Premier Determined to Fulfil Pledge to People

NEW CABINET FOR SPAIN

Former Premier Moret, Succeeds Maura as Head of Government

NEW MINISTERS ARE APPOINTED

Resignation of Old Cabinet Causes Uproar in Chamber of Deputies

MADRID, Oct. 21.—The Spanish cabinet which was formed on January 25, 1907, under the premiership of Antonio Maura, resigned today, as the result of the bitter attacks made against the government by the former premier, Moret y Prendergast, representing a powerful opposition.

At a conference with King Alfonso, Premier Maura told the king that in the face of the cabinet's statement that the opposition would refuse to discuss even the most urgent measures, he had no option but to resign. He asked, however, the members of the majority to support the new ministry.

Upon the receipt of the resignation of the premier and his ministers, Moret y Prendergast undertook to form a new ministry, himself assuming the post of premier and minister of the interior.

The new ministers who took the oath of office tonight were as follows: Premier and minister of the interior, Moret y Prendergast; minister of foreign affairs, Perez Gual; minister of finance, Senor Alcala; minister of war, Lieut. General DeLuque; minister of marine, Rear Admiral Concas; minister of public works, Senor Gasset; minister of public instruction, Senor Barrojo; minister of justice, Martinez del Ramo.

When the president of the chamber of deputies made the announcement of the cabinet's resignation, it was received with such an ear-splitting uproar that he was forced to adjourn the sitting.

Vatican's Attitude

ROME, Oct. 21.—The Vatican did not expect the fall of Premier Maura, believing that the energy he displayed in re-establishing order at Barcelona and other affected points would bring him sufficient strength to retain the premiership and complete the work which he had undertaken. The Vatican, however, is most reserved with regard to the change in the Spanish government, and says simply that the making or unmaking of cabinets in Spain is none of its affair.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

Saskatchewan Convention Elects Officers and Transacts Much Other Business

SASKATOON, Sask., Oct. 21.—The chief business at this morning's session of the Saskatchewan Sunday school convention was the election of officers, though various other meetings were held throughout the day, beginning as early as 8 a. m. These were mostly routine affairs, however, and little of interest outside of the naming of officers occurred during the morning.

This year's officers are: President, Hon. W. C. Sutherland; vice-presidents, Geo. Mayhew, Moose Jaw; Rev. J. Young, Prince Albert, and O. S. Kingsley, Regina; recording secretary, W. Hindson, Regina; assistant recording secretary, J. A. Chisholm, Midsal; department superintendents, elementary, Mrs. Stuart Mulholland, Regina; junior intermediate, H. T. Tupper, Regina; adult, Rev. W. H. Dobson, Grenfell; education, A. M. Fenwick, Regina; moral reform, Rev. W. A. Guy, Regina; extension, Rev. W. A. Lewis, Sinitula; missionary, Mrs. Walter Martin, Regina; evangelistic, Rev. B. Freeman, Regina; and central committee, W. Hindson, A. H. Tasker, A. M. Fraser, J. H. D. Stevens, H. A. Cause, Jas. Balfour, A. M. Fenwick, P. W. G. Haultain, Rev. S. E. Brown and Spencer Page, all of Regina; auditor, Geo. Gamble.

Throughout the afternoon many eloquent and inspiring addresses were delivered and practical demonstrations given of the best methods to use in conducting Sunday school classes. The afternoon session was brought to a close by a lecture on "Child Nature" by Mr. May.

Tonight the convention was practically brought to a close, though two or three items were left over till tomorrow.

Two interesting addresses were given in Knox church tonight, one by Rev. Harmon Jones, of Regina, on "The Sunday School and the Evangelization of our own Province," and another, "What Shall the Harvest Be?" by Marlon Lawrence.

The business also included the report of the resolutions committee.

Tomorrow evening Rev. J. L. Gordon lectures in Knox church, which will bring the proceedings to an end.

EXPLOSION KILLS TEN COAL MINERS

Oklahoma Disaster Results From Lamps Igniting Escaping Gas

HARTSHORNE, Okla., Oct. 21.—Ten miners are dead, two are injured and one is missing, as a result of an explosion in mine number one of the Hook Island Coal Mining company today.

Nine bodies were recovered. The men are believed to have gone beyond a dead line with lighted lamps in entering the mine, igniting escaping gas.

No damage was done to the mine by fire.

Farmer Gets Prize

BLACKPOOL, Oct. 21.—Henry Farmer has been awarded the grand prize of $10,000 for the longest flight at the aviation meeting here. He covered 47 miles yesterday in his best attempt. Rouger was second and Paulham third.

Waist Makers Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A strike of the 4,000 members of the New York ladies' waist makers' union for higher wages and recognition of the union was voted tonight. The strike will probably begin on Monday. They ask for a ten per cent. increase and a closed shop.

ICE TRUST CASE

Prosecution of Alleged Monopoly in New York May Take Several Weeks

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Prosecution of the American Ice company for alleged violation of the state anti-monopoly law began in earnest in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court here today. Deputy Attorney General Clark, in his opening address, declared that "everything short of physical violence which the diabolical ingenuity of man could invent was employed by this corporation to build up a monopoly of the ice business."

"The idea for the organization of the combine," he continued, "originated with Chas. W. Morse."

Deputy Attorney General Osborne read to the jury the certificate of incorporation of the company in New Jersey in 1899, wherein the capitalization was fixed at $60,000,000, each of the five incorporators subscribing for only 40 shares. The capitalization was later reduced to $10,000,000.

John R. Bennett, one of the incorporators, was the only witness of the day. Mr. Osborne drew from him an admission that out of the $40,000,000 capitalization of the American Ice company, $20,000,000 had been exchanged share for share for stock in the Knickerbocker and Consolidated ice companies and about $19,000,000 for other ice company properties. His testimony was only in connection with a preliminary understanding of the case.

District Attorney W. T. Jerome was a visitor in the court room for a time. It is believed that the trial will be confined mainly to documentary evidence and will continue for several weeks.

REVOLUTIONARY FORCES MOVE

General Estrada's Rebellion Is Attributed to Guatemalan President

BLUEFIELDS, Oct. 21, via Wireless to Colon.—General Luis Mondirist left here tonight with three hundred men for Monkey Point. General Fornes Diaz also is about to leave for Rama in command of another force of three hundred men, who will reconnoitre on the way to the interior. This interior force, led by General Chamorro, General Reyes has been appointed second in command of the revolutionary movement. Two thousand Nicaraguan exiles are awaiting an opportunity to return here and join the rebels.

The revolutionary agent in Washington has advised General Estrada, the leader of the revolution, who has declared himself provisional President of Nicaragua that the American government will recognize him shortly. The Pispis river mining district is in possession of the revolutionists. A steamer has been sent to Guatemala for arms and ammunition. It has not yet returned but its coming is looked for any day.

MANAGUA, Oct. 21.—It is believed here that President Cabrera of Guatemala is responsible in a measure, if not entirely, for the revolution at Bluefields as he has been supporting it with expeditions from Puerto Sarrios and other places. Advice received here state that Guatemala to get war supplies has been seized by the authorities of Honduras. No decisive engagements between the revolutionists and the government forces has yet been fought. The revolution is still confined to a comparatively small number of towns.

SHIPBUILDING PLANT

St. John Expects Location There of Harland & Wolff Yards and Drydock

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 21.—Harland & Wolff, of Belfast, the Canadian Pacific railway, the Allan Steamship company and the Dominion government will be directly interested in a mammoth drydock and ship repair yards to be established here just as soon as the government determines upon its policy of naval defence, which will be taken up at the next session of parliament.

The establishment here of a great steel shipbuilding plant, where war vessels and commercial vessels will be constructed and equipped, is regarded as almost certain to follow the dock. Captain D. O. C. Naval on, of Ottawa, who represents Canadian interests allied with Harland & Wolff, is now in the city to head a deputation to meet Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Ottawa next week and urge upon the government the necessity of a drydock in Canada. Another representative of Harland & Wolff has already been here, and is now on his way to Belfast to recommend St. John as the site for the plant.

Socialists to Nominate

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—The first nominating convention to be held in Vancouver in connection with the coming election will occur next Tuesday evening, when the Socialists plan to select five men to be candidates. A full ticket will be run in Vancouver and on Vancouver Island, according to present plans of the Socialist party.

Hon. R. G. Tatlow, Finance Minister, and Hon. F. J. Fulton, Commissioner of Lands, Differ with Leader Upon Railway Policy and Their Resignations are Accepted—Hon. Richard McBride's Policy is Enunciated After Two Years Careful Deliberation and Negotiation and is in Fulfilment of Pledge Formerly Given

Hon. R. G. Tatlow, finance minister and Hon. F. J. Fulton, commissioner of lands, yesterday resigned from the provincial government. Hon. W. J. Bowser was sworn in last evening as minister of finance and agriculture and the vacant portfolio will be filled within a few days.

The action of Messrs. Tatlow and Fulton is taken as a result of their failure to see eye to eye with Premier McBride and their other colleagues with regard to the railway policy just enunciated. Hon. F. J. Fulton expressed the opinion that the Canadian Northern would build to the coast in any event and that in consequence he was not in favor of the province extending aid of any kind. Hon. R. G. Tatlow did not favor aiding the railway to the extent proposed.

Accepts Resignation

"In view of my pledge to the people of B. C. to consider any fair and reasonable proposals that may be made to the government for railway construction in B. C. a pledge which I gave six years ago and which I have ever since taken every opportunity to reaffirm—when the agreement between the government and the Canadian Northern now before the country was finally agreed on—there was no other course open for me but to accept their resignations. My negotiations with the Canadian Northern as every one knows, have been under way for upwards of two years past and not until Mr. Mann's last visit to B. C. was I able to arrive at what I considered to be a reasonable and businesslike solution of the problem. The great and far-reaching importance of this matter has always been well in my mind, and the final determination was reached after most mature consideration."

Statement by Premier

After the resignations of Messrs. Tatlow and Fulton became known Mr. McBride was seen by a Colonist reporter and asked if he wished to say anything on the subject. In reply the Premier said:

"Messrs. Fulton and Tatlow handed me their resignations today, and they have been submitted to and accepted by His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor. Substantially the reason for Captain Tatlow's withdrawal is his disagreement with me on the question of amount of assistance which is proposed that the Canadian Northern should have from the local government. I have the assurance of Captain Tatlow that on all other matters he is in hearty accord with the present administration."

"Mr. Fulton's position is summed up in a statement which he very kindly handed me this evening."

"Mr. Fulton has for some time past taken the position that on general principles railways in the province of B. C. will be built without government assistance wherever business conditions warrant the same. That in his opinion these conditions warrant and in fact almost necessitate the immediate construction of the Canadian Northern to the Pacific coast and in consequence in their case government assistance from the province is not required. On all the other points it may be stated that he is fully in accord and sympathy with the policy of the government."

RAILWAY POLICY GOOD FOR B. C.

W. A. Galliher, Former Member, Says It Will Be Acceptable

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—"The general opinion out in British Columbia is that we can't have too many railways to open up the country, and I think Premier McBride's policy concerning the Canadian Northern will be acceptable to the province."

This was the opinion expressed by William A. Galliher, ex-M. P. for Kootenay, B. C., this morning. He is in the city on departmental business.

"What the premier is going to do about the provincial timber limits still remains to be seen. He has had a commission enquiring into the question for some time. If, as a result of this, the timber men of the province support him in this election he will have a very strong following."

braced in the measure to be submitted to the Legislature and not included in the contract as signed, Mr. McBride said:

"They do not involve the substantive features of the existing contract, for these will not be altered. They will provide for the carrying out of the contract. For example, the Canadian Northern is to secure the province by a first mortgage upon its line within this province. The measure submitted to the Legislature will have to provide for the creation of a trustship in which this mortgage shall be vested. The government is going to guarantee the company's bonds; but it does not propose to allow the company to receive the money derived from the sale of the bonds, until it is entitled to it. Therefore, the money will be paid to the credit of the province and will not be paid out to the company until satisfactory evidence has been given that work of actual construction satisfactory to the government entitles the company to receive it."

Confident of Result

Mr. McBride added:

"I have no fear whatever of an appeal to the people. They are well going to withdraw their confidence now. They are going to take me at my word and give me a chance to make good. I believe the policy, which is submitted to the people is one that will be of the utmost value to the province and will impose a minimum of burden upon the treasury. We will not even have to pay interest on the Canadian Northern bonds during construction, and after the line is built from Yellow Head Pass to Barkley Sound, we will have a guarantee that the province will lose nothing, all the resources of the Canadian Northern Railway system, which is even now operating more than three thousand miles between the head of Lake Superior and the Rocky Mountains and will then be a transcontinental railway in the fullest sense of the term."

Other Features

On being asked the nature of the matters that would have to be embraced in the measure to be submitted to the Legislature and not included in the contract as signed, Mr. McBride said:

For example, the Canadian Northern is to secure the province by a first mortgage upon its line within this province. ## INSPECTORS OF THE BUREAU OF ANIMAL INDUSTRY IN MANY INSTANCES WERE INCOMPETENT AND CARELESS.

"As a matter of fact," continued the department official, "no country in the world is so careful as the United States in the examination of meats intended to be used as food. Approximately there are eight hundred packing houses in the country, the output of which is inspected thoroughly by trained veterinarians of this department. In addition, we have travelling inspectors who direct the work of the packing house inspectors with a view of seeing that there is no carelessness or shirking of duty. This rigid inspection has cost the packers of the country millions of dollars, not only in the construction and maintenance of their plants in a perfectly sanitary condition, but also in the cost of animals which are condemned by reason of disease as unfit for food."

"We know nothing here about Mrs. Crane's charges, but whatever they are, and against whomsoever they may be directed, they will be investigated thoroughly, for only by such inquiry are we able to maintain the high standard of excellence of American packing houses."

Winter Rifle Shooting

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—The Canadian Rifle League officials hope to start an amateur rifle series throughout Canada this winter. The general interest now being taken in gallery rifle shooting is much greater than in former years, and if a series is started it will be much greater. It is said that corps in all parts of the Dominion will compete in this new series. The sub-target gun series which was inaugurated last year will be completed this year.

EARTH TREMORS FELT IN SICILY

Town on Slope of Mount Etna Shaken—Mount Vesuvius Is Active

CATANIA, Sicily, Oct. 21.—Several strong earth shocks were felt here today. They were pronounced at Acreale, on the slope of Mount Etna, where the people, alarmed by the first shocks, rushed out of their houses and camped in the open air. Ten houses fell in the outskirts, but only one person was killed. The walls of many houses were cracked. The whole region was severely shaken.

NAPLES, Oct. 21.—Mount Vesuvius is again very active. Quantities of stones were thrown out today, falling inside the crater. The ejection was preceded and accompanied by detonations. This is considered the most serious eruption of Mount Vesuvius since 1906.

Vancouver Clearings

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—For the third consecutive week the Vancouver bank clearings are well over the seven million mark. For the week ending October 21 the returns are $7,496,978, as compared with $1,152,449 for the corresponding week of last year.

C. P. R. and Edmonton

EDMONTON, Oct. 21.—The C. P. R. agreement, providing for the entrance of the railway company into Edmonton by means of the high level bridge and for the construction of a traffic deck upon that bridge when payment of $586,000 is made by the city of Edmonton, is now ready for submission to the ratepayers, having been given its third reading at an adjourned meeting of the city council last night. The agreement will be once advertised and voted upon by the ratepayers on Thursday, November 18.

MANY PERISHED IN INDIA STORM

Cyclone in Eastern Bengal Kills Large Number of Natives

CALCUTTA, Oct. 21.—No Europeans, but a large number of natives perished in the cyclone which a few days ago wrecked Goolanda and swept through the eastern Bengal region. A large number of native craft were sunk.

No definite information has been received to indicate the extent of the loss of life.

According to the few survivors arriving here, the fields for miles ago strewn with debris and bodies. Hundreds of homes have been washed away and the survivors are now facing death by pestilence and starvation.

The tornado was followed by a storm of terrific proportion, and this wrought as much havoc as the tornado, which descended suddenly upon the natives.

Charge of Kidnapping

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Eight men and women were held in $1,000 bail each in connection with the kidnapping of four-year-old Johnnie Lopez, who was found on the street last Monday night after being absent from home since September 7. Among them is Pellegrino Mule, an alleged Italian bandit.

WAS UNPLEASING TO G. T. PACIFIC

Grand Trunk Meeting in London Develops Matters of Interest

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, president for the last time at the Grand Trunk meeting today, which lasted two hours and a quarter, and ended in a stormy scene over the board's proposal that Sir Charles should receive a retiring allowance of £1,500 annually. An amendment deferring the proposal to the next meeting was carried by about 3 to 1.

Mr. Smithers, the new chairman, announced that the board had an overwhelming preponderance of proxies, and demanded a poll, which is now proceeding. It is certain to result in favor of the board.

The storm arose when Sir Charles left the hall, and Mr. Smithers, having taken the chair amid cheers, proceeded to move for a retiring allowance of £1,500 for Sir Charles. In reply to shareholders, Mr. Smithers said the retiring president received £4,000 salary and would retain his directorship on the Grand Trunk Pacific. Several shareholders protested, and said English railway chairmen retired without allowance.

The meeting had other interesting features. Sir Charles heavy scored J. D. McCarthy, contractor for the government section of the transcontinental, for failure to complete the Lake Superior link this autumn. The expectation is that it will be finished next summer. He deplored the want of activity, and anxiety for progress in the completion of the further 540 miles to Cochrane, for which he feared the change would be in name only.

He referred to the absence of sufficient help in British Columbia, and said that he feared that the lack of laborers to be secured there will make it impossible to fulfill the promise of completing the road to Prince Rupert, on the Pacific Coast, before fall.

President Wilson complained that the government authorities of British Columbia had given but little assistance in solving the problem of obtaining laborers and had absolutely refused permission for the introduction of Chinese and Japanese.

Sir Charles says that personally he is opposed to the appointment of an advisory board in Canada, but that he would offer no strong objection to the plan if it should be fostered by a large proportion of the Grand Trunk's shareholders. It was indispensable, he stated, that the financial control of the company should remain in London.

Sir Charles Gets Pension

The meeting became noisy when it was proposed to grant Sir Charles an annual pension of $7,500. A motion to that effect was vigorously criticized and an amendment to defer consideration of the matter for one year, was adopted.

At this point the temporary chairman announced that a poll would be taken to determine whether the directors were in favor of the original motion. The poll proved an overwhelming sentiment in favor of the motion and accordingly a pension for Sir Charles is assured.

Senator McCarren Wores

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Following a consultation of physicians at Senator McCarren's bedside at midnight, the following bulletin was issued early this morning: "Senator McCarren's condition is very grave." Dr. Hughes, his physician, declined to add anything to this bulletin. The hospital authorities said that the patient's relapse was so serious as to make it doubtful whether he would survive the night.

U. S. Cheese Frauds

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The trial of Antonio and Philip Musica, the porters charged with defrauding the government by short weight in cheese imports from Italy, continues to assume a broader scope than was anticipated when the hearings began. Today the government presented evidence to show that the defendants, frightened by the early arrests in connection with the cheese frauds, diverted their own shipments through Montreal in order to avoid having them weighed at this port.

TIT FOR TAT

"Would you like to be a man?" inquired a Toronto male reporter of a suffragette.

"No!" was the reply, "would you?"

Things are not always as they seem. Discerning ones who recognize the best are not easily influenced by the much advertised inferior mineral waters because they are less in price. The people of Victoria, as a rule, do not quibble about cost: they are accustomed to have and demand the best. This is why sales of "White Rock Lithia Water" are constantly increasing in this city. Another reason: leading physicians know the absolute purity of White Rock and invariably use and recommend this "Best Cold Bottle of the Age" to their patrons and friends. As a dilutant for whisky, wine or milk White Rock is positively unrivalled. Few bottles of any water except this splendid lithia are now to be found at any of the highest class clubs, cafes or hotels in B. C. White Rock is the most popular water and it is only right that it should be for it is the best mineral water procurable—absolutely pure and wholesome. Pure, delicious, sparkling—fit for a king's table and it does grace King Edward's table every day of the year. Order "White Rock" from your grocer for your Thanksgiving Day dinner. If your dealer does not keep it do not accept a spurious imitation, but phone us and we will give you the name of one who does supply it. Pither and Leiser, Wholesale Distributors for B. TORONTO, Oct. 21.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will visit Toronto on January 6 and formally open the Ontario Club at a banquet to be tendered in his honor. It is expected that the occasion will be marked by an important announcement of government policy. ## JOHN W. LAING, M.A. DIED LAST NIGHT

Headmaster of the Collegiate School Succumbs After Short Illness

After two weeks' illness following a stroke of paralysis John William Laing, M. A., Oxon, F. R. G. S., headmaster of the Collegiate School, Rockland avenue, died last evening at his residence. Born in Scotland, sixty-three years ago, the late Mr. Laing had been a resident of this city for many years. He had been a leader in local educational circles and his school, over which he presided with such marked success, had attained an enviable reputation as a boys' school. As headmaster of the Collegiate School he gained the respect and love of his pupils, many of whom, since grown to man's estate, will feel a personal loss in the passing away of the teacher and guide of their youth. Deceased was widely known and respected and his death will come as a severe shock to his many friends. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Collegiate School to Christ Church Cathedral, where services will be held at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made in Ross Bay cemetery.

MR. LEFFINGWELL IS HEARD FROM

Explorer Writes From Point Barrow Narrating Adventures

SEATTLE, Oct. 21.—Ernest DeK. Leffingwell, the Arctic explorer, who outfitted in Seattle last spring and sailed in the 15-ton yawl Argo for Point Barrow, intending to do geographical exploration of the coast of the North American continent as far east as the mouth of the Mackenzie river, has been heard from. He wrote from Point Barrow under date of September 2:

"We got here about August 12 with the first boat, but the whaling steamer Karluk got eastward ahead of us. We had to use so much fuel in crossing the Pacific that we were forced to economize in the ice, where we needed it most. We had a month of the worst kind of weather on the Pacific, when we were either double-reefed or hove to most of the time. Twice we had the sea anchor out, with three oil bags, drifting at the rate of four miles an hour. Luckily we had sea room, for we went a hundred miles one time and fifty miles the second time, out of our course.

"The Argo rode out the gales beautifully. When we were near shore I was very nervous for fear we should be blown on the beach. We had only eighteen fathoms of chain, and in riding out a gale in a lagoon here we bent the shaft of the patent anchor so that it dragged. The kedge anchor held awhile, but one of the flukes bent, and then we had to run under Qawa, Canada, Alexander the Great. We put her nose on the beach and ran out lines and 'deadmen,' and were safe from being blown out to sea."

GIVES HIMSELF UP

Man Who Surrenders Himself at Seattle Says He Helped to Rob Wright Postoffice

SEATTLE, Oct. 21.—Asserting that he was implicated in the robbery of a postoffice at Wright, a little town near Qawa, Canada, Alexander the Great, who gives his age as 28, and his occupation as a laborer, last night walked into police headquarters and gave himself up.

He stated that he was tired and hungry, and was willing to return to Canada and face prosecution. According to Grant's story as told to Captain D. F. Willard last night, the youth stated that his companions, one of whom, he says, went by the name of Kelley, deserted him in Seattle about three days ago. Since that time, he alleges, he has not been able to get work, and haunting fear of being apprehended was too much for him, so he decided to end the uncertainty by giving himself up.

Grant last night said that his two "pals" told him they had secured only $500, but he thinks they got more. Grant says that out of the alleged $500 he was given $60. He says he stood guard outside while the other two entered the postoffice and robbed the safe. Grant states the robbery occurred about two and a half weeks ago, but he could not remember the date definitely.

PROGRESSIVE LEAGUE

There was a good attendance at Pioneer Hall last evening of those interested in the formation of a Progressive League. The constitution was formally adopted as follows:

Principle.—That the essential unity of mankind should be expressed in all the relations of life.

Objects.—(1) To promote a common meeting ground and fellowship for those who are in sympathy with liberal Christianity and all progressive religious thought.

(2) To study impartially the various manifestations of religious experience, and to make known the assured results of the historic and scientific study of religion.

(3) To promote the systematic study of social questions from the spiritual and moral as well as from the economic point of view in the light of the best available knowledge and experience; to create a sense of individual, civic, and national responsibility for removing unjust social conditions; to encourage men and women to be trained and organized for social work.

(4) To work for a social and economic reconstruction of society which shall secure the fullest opportunities and the most favorable environment for individual development, based upon co-operation for life instead of competition for existence.

(5) To promote the development of international goodwill by concentrating attention upon and seeking to strengthen the forces that make for peace and unity among the nations.

Public action.—The league will maintain in all political matters a non-partisan attitude, and will not support any political party as such, but may assist in the election to public bodies of candidates who will strive to give practical expression to the principle and objects of the league.

Membership is open to all persons who accept the principle and objects of the league as stated herein.

Thomas West read a chapter from "New Theology," entitled, "God and the Universe," by R. J. Campbell, M. A. of the City Temple, London, some striking passages of which were quoted, and considerable discussion arose. It was decided to have papers submitted at subsequent meetings. Nine more members were added to the membership list of the society.

BANK ROBBERY IS EPIDEMIC

Gang of Bandits Raids Quebec Bank—Two Wisconsin Robberies

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—Holding up Cashier Alexandre Cadoret at the point of a revolver, when aroused from sleep at an early hour this morning, the investigators, a noise which had awakened him, a gang of five masked robbers blew open the safe of the National Bank of St. Alme, in Richelieu county, and got away with over $2,000. Madame Cadoret, wife of the cashier, tried to make her escape through the window to give an alarm, when she was held up by two more of the gang on the outside of the house and was shot at twice. Both shots missed, but Madame Cadoret was held prisoner until the gang got away.

MANITOWAC, Wis., Oct. 21.—Bank robbers, believed to number three, robbed the Redwells state bank early this morning of $5,500 in cash and negotiable paper. The thieves stole a horse and carriage and escaped.

MINOCQUA, Wis., Oct. 21.—The bandits who dynamited the bank of Minocqua yesterday, obtaining several thousand dollars, are today near Bradley. A telegram for reinforcements was received here this morning and additional men are on their way to Bradley. The gang literally blew the bank to pieces, firing seven charges of dynamite before the vault yielded. The door was blown across the street, and money was scattered on the ground.

PREMIER DETERMINED TO FULFIL PLEDGE

Hon. R. G. Tatlow

Robert Garnett Tatlow, who resigned his portfolio in the provincial government yesterday is 54 years of age. He had been in the legislature for the last nine years, and held the position of minister of finance and agriculture for the past six years. Born in County Down, Ireland, he came to Canada at an early age. He earned his captaincy in the First Prince of Wales Regiment, Montreal, and was attached for over a year to B. Battery, R. C. A. He first entered provincial politics in 1894, when he was an unsuccessful candidate in Vancouver. He contested the same seat again in 1900, when he was successful. He was chairman of the Vancouver parks board for eight years, and is a broker by profession.

Hon. F. J. Fulton

Frederick John Fulton, the late minister of lands, is an Englishman by birth and a B. A. of Cambridge University. A barrister by profession, he was elected to the British Columbia legislature in 1900. In the McBride administration of 1903 he was sworn in as president of the council, and the following year as provincial secretary and minister of education. He retained these portfolios until the end of 1906, when he was appointed attorney-general. In March, 1907, he received the additional appointment of chief commissioner of lands and works, and in July the same year he relinquished the portfolio of attorney-general. In the legislature he represented Kamloops.

WILL GREATLY AID BUSINESS HERE

"I consider that the developments in the northern parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan are so great that it is of paramount importance that we should have the best connection with that part of the Northwest. A transcontinental line, with easy grades, will have a very important bearing on the freight rates chargeable between the coast cities and the Northwest. The present relatively high freight and passenger rates are being excused on the grounds of the heavy cost for handling traffic over the grades of the C.P.R. The construction of the Victoria and Barkley Sound railway, which will be undertaken by the Canadian Northern, will mean a great deal to this city," said J. J. Shallocross, when interviewed yesterday on his opinions of the Government railway policy.

Harriman's successor a few days ago. A. L. Mohler, J. D. Stubbs, Julius Kruttschnitt and William Mabil were appointed vice-presidents.

The annual report of the Union Pacific Railroad company for the year ending June 30th last shows that after payment of dividends of four per cent. on the preferred stock and ten per cent. on the common stock, the total surplus from transportation operations and from other income for the year was $17,533,250, an increase of $5,749,498.

Deputy Minister Resigns

R. M. Palmer has resigned the position of deputy minister of agriculture, and W. E. Scott, of Salt Spring Island, has been appointed to succeed him. Mr. Scott is at present en route to England with the province's fruit exhibit. Mr. Palmer will take the position of manager of the British Columbia Fruitlands Company, which has 7,000 acres of land in the neighborhood of Kamloops. BERLIN, Oct. 21.—The diet elections in Saxony and Baden today show large Socialist gains. Both Socialists and Liberals have made big gains in the city districts, the Clericals and Conservatives losing some seats.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—A request for a general wage increase and betterment of conditions, including a ten hour maximum day for conductors and trainmen of every railroad system East of the Mississippi, north of the Chesapeake and Ohio lines, and of eastern Canada will be made before the end of the year, if the various local union vote to ratify the action of the fourth annual convention of the eastern association of general chairmen of the joint board of arbitration and adjustment of the railway conductors' and trainmen's organizations, which closed its sessions in this city tonight. The resolution will be submitted immediately for a referendum vote to the men of each system.

Congo Affairs

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, regretted that the affairs in the Congo Independent state did not justify the recognition of Belgian annexation, but he cordially welcomed the co-operation of the United States in the efforts to secure reforms. The secretary complimented the United States on being the only government except that of Great Britain, which has taken the trouble to get impartial and independent information about the Congo.

Warning to Wall Street.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The financial writers in London morning newspapers for the most part consider the Bank of England's action in raising the discount rate as a warning to Wall street speculators. The Standard questions whether a five per cent rate will suffice. The Chronicle says: "Present conditions are strikingly similar to those which led to the financial panic in America in 1907. The fact that American operations on a huge scale are again being carried on causes disquietude." The financial papers take the same view. The Financial Times says: "If Wall street disregards the plain signal, further coercive measures must be tried."

New York's Contest

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—With New York's municipal election only twelve days distant, the campaign today reached the stage of hopeful forecast and optimistic estimates. The following are the estimates of campaign managers for the three candidates for mayor: Bannard (Republican Fusion) by 40,000; Hearn (Democrat) by 75,000; Hearst (Independent) by 80,000. The confidence expressed by all the campaign managers was pointed out by many observers tonight as a further indication of the non-partisan character of the support upon which the candidates depend, and of the breaking down to a great extent of party lines in the consideration of New York's municipal problems. There were more than a hundred minor meetings in various parts of New York tonight.

Guggenheim Divorce

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The suit seeking annulment of the divorce granted Grace E. Guggenheim from Wm. Guggenheim, the smelter magnate, eight years ago in Chicago, came on abruptly close here today, when Judge Honore indefinitely postponed the hearing. When Judge Dunne granted the divorce, Mrs. Guggenheim testified that she was a resident of Illinois, but she claims recently to have discovered that her testimony was in error on this point. The matter was laid before Mr. Dunne, who is no longer on the bench, and he, declaring that fraud had been practiced on the court, filed a petition for the annulment of the divorce. Judge Honore stated that Mrs. Guggenheim's only remaining course is to file a bill herself, alleging that she obtained her divorce by fraud. Attorney Levinson is authority for the statement, however, that such action would be futile, as the Illinois statutes provide that five years is the limit for proceedings of this kind and that the case therefore was outlawed three years ago.

MR. MCBRIDE'S POSITION.

The position taken by Mr. McBride in the interview, which we print on another page this morning, will arouse the enthusiasm of his supporters and command the respect and confidence of the whole province. It is a thoroughly manly stand. He disdains all equivocations, faces the issue presented by his railway policy, pledges himself to carry it out in its entirety, and promises to stand or fall by it. He does not propose to secure another lease of power by bringing down a railway policy and then, by specious reasoning, excuse himself from accomplishing what he has undertaken to do. On the threshold of a political career, which may lead him to any position in the gift of the people of Canada, he stakes his future as a public man upon his good faith. More than this he could not be asked to do; less than this might seem to some people ample; but Mr. McBride has shown the courage of statesmanship. We confess our great admiration for the stand he has taken. We are confident that the people will appreciate it as they always appreciate manly courage. By his declaration he has put the campaign upon a new basis, a basis upon which a political campaign has never yet rested in this province. Careful study of the needs of British Columbia has led him to a full realization of the necessity of adopting a railway policy, which will have immediate practical results. Careful investigation has shown him the way in which those results can be most quickly reached, and a substantial impetus can be given to the development of the province. His observations showed him by what means this can be accomplished in a way that will be least burdensome to the province. He has entered into contracts that will ensure the carrying out of those objects, as far as is possible at the present time, for the railway requirements of British Columbia are larger than any government could undertake to meet in one measure, and then has placed himself in the hands of the electorate. If he had wished, he could have remained securely in office for two years to come; he could have brought down a policy without consulting the people; he could have played with the aspirations of the province by making vague promises that would look well upon paper, but never would have been fulfilled in lines of steel. But he has taken a far more manly course. Some time ago he gave the people his promise that he would adopt a policy of railway construction. He has adopted one, and now he says to the people that it is for them to decide whether they think he has kept his promise as he ought to have kept it. He does more than this, for while he takes what chance there is of defeat on an appeal to the constituencies, he assumes the further responsibility involved in his personal pledge that he will carry out what he has undertaken. There is nothing uncertain about such a position as this. We venture to say that the history of Canadian politics will afford few examples where a premier with a loyal and powerful majority at his back, and the loyal support and unswerving confidence of the great body of the electorate, has come forward with a policy and voluntarily offered to stake his future as a public man upon his ability to carry it out. If there were nothing except an avowal of policy, such as the governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta appealed to the people upon at the recent elections in those provinces, instead of there being, as there are, signed contracts with the contracting companies, agreeing to carry out what has been set forth in this regard, the pledge which Mr. McBride has given would be a sufficient guarantee of good faith to justify him in appealing to the electorate for their endorsement. That he will receive this we have no manner of doubt. It will be a triumphant endorsement, for the people of British Columbia will know how to appreciate a public man, who has shown that he stands ready to do his duty to the country as he understands it, and is prepared to stand or fall by the promises which he has made.

THE RESIGNATIONS

The resignations of Mr. Tatlow, Minister of Finance and Agriculture, and Mr. Fulton, Minister of Lands, while it will come as a surprise to most people, was not wholly unexpected by those who were aware of the views of these gentlemen upon railway matters. Their reasons for retirement from the ministry are not exactly consistent with each other.

Mr. Tatlow retires because he thinks the Canadian Northern is getting too much; Mr. Fulton goes out because he thinks that the time has gone by for subsidizing railways, and that in any event the Canadian Northern line would be built as a necessary commercial undertaking without a subsidy. If Mr. Fulton is right, Mr. Tatlow is wrong in suggesting that a guarantee of bonds is too much to give, for a line that is a commercial necessity will surely pay interest on what it will cost. But this only by the way. The ex-ministers, for reasons which seem satisfactory to themselves, are unable to concur with their colleagues in the railway policy, and therefore they took the only proper course open to them. We regret that they have felt impelled to such a line of action, but holding the views that they entertain, there was nothing left for them to do. Mr. McBride had to choose between keeping his colleagues and keeping faith with the people and he has chosen the latter course. The public will heartily applaud him for so doing. He has given by the act further evidence of his determination to let nothing stand in the way of redemption of his promise to give the province a progressive and beneficial railway policy.

The Colonist has on many occasions expressed its appreciation of both the retiring ministers, and has nothing to withdraw on that subject. It looks upon their retirement from public life with regret, although it has known for some time that neither of them was particularly enamored of a public career. It wishes them both every success and prosperity for the future.

THE BARKLEY SOUND LINE

There is lying to the west of Victoria a region that is capable of remarkable development. It contains a vast amount of the finest timber in the world. It has what seem to be the largest iron deposits in British Columbia. It contains limestone. It is to all appearance as far as can be judged from such prospecting as has been done, richly mineralized. Running through it are streams that will supply a large amount of power. There are many areas in it that, when cleared of timber, will be available for farming. Until a day or two ago, we were all of one mind as to the desirability of opening this country by a railway. We all were of the opinion that if Victoria had a hundred miles of railway running to the west, it would be a good thing for the city. Those who took the trouble to investigate the matter realized that the area, which such a line would open, would be as large as that tributary to the E. & N. Railway, and that Victoria would have no competitor in the trade to be developed there as she has in Vancouver for the trade along the E. & N. Others who had looked into the matter a little further saw that such a railway would draw upon the whole west coast of the Island for business and make Victoria strong in a region where otherwise she will have to meet Vancouver competition by way of the Alberni extension of the E. & N. On these points we were all of one mind up to a few days ago; but now that the McBride Ministry has entered into a contract for the construction of this railway, and to have it form a part of a transcontinental line, opponents of that ministry can see nothing in the line worthy of a moment's consideration. They tell us that the line will be no good. One prominent supporter of Mr. John Oliver said yesterday that it would be of no more value to the city than the V. & S. railway, although last week he was one of those who thought everything should be done to secure the construction of the line, and was willing to do everything in his power to secure a Dominion subsidy for it. Others of Mr. Oliver's supporters say that the road is of very little good, quite oblivious of the fact that Mr. Oliver includes it in his programme, and is willing to vote $5,000 a mile to aid in its construction.

We shall have more to say about this enterprise by and by, but for the present we shall only add that there is probably not another city in Canada where political bitterness is so intense that men would deery an undertaking that will develop right at its doors an area of vast potentialities in a business way. A week or two ago, when the Board of Trade asked the government to assist this railway, the whole city, irrespective of party affiliations, applauded the request, and urged the government to comply with it. The government has complied with it, and now we are told that the road will be of little value, and the people go so far as to say that it will be an injury to this city. Such people are hopeless, but fortunately they are in a very small minority.

COMMENTS UPON ANNOUNCEMENT

In dealing with the government's railway policy, the News-Advertiser editorially has the following:

The general expression of opinion in regard to the government's announcement from Victoria is one of approval. Once more the Conservative administration of the province has proved itself a business body, recognizing very fully that the present period in the existence of British Columbia is one that demands sound common sense in the supervision of public affairs. The ministry is already in a position to point with satisfaction to the results of one railway policy which it has formulated, and can with the greater confidence submit to the electorate a second, no less judicious in its terms and promising in its development. We were enabled yesterday morning to supplement the announcement of the date of the general elections with a sufficiently explanatory outline of the railway policy on which by this means the public of the province will be enabled to declare its opinion. The government has done no more than right in giving the electorate the opportunity to express their views on the policy immediately on its maturity, and we think that its course in this respect will be approved by all fair-minded persons. And, further, there is very little doubt that the latest steps which the government has taken to insure the further development of the public domain will also prove gratifying to the vast majority of voters. The proposition, as we have said, is a business one, and as such will appeal to the shrewd business sense of the public. It is practical and prudent. It cannot fail to assist materially the fertile interior sections that require but this impetus to assure for them a productive commerce which must under other circumstances be tardy of consummation, and to cement the fortunes of the more thickly populated coast districts by securing more ample facilities for communication. In both these respects the new railway policy is eminently practical. And it is prudent for the reasons that the government has pledged the country to none of those virtual bribes which it was at one time the fashion to extend to railroad enterprise—some of them of a purely speculative nature in the most selfish sense. It is highly improbable that, with the securities to be held, the province will be called upon to pay one dollar in connection with the guarantee of bonds of the Canadian Northern. The sincerity with which the Mackenzie & Mann system has adhered to its pledges in other provinces of the Dominion, its stable financial position, and the good judgment displayed by it in seeking new and promising fields, make the securities which the government will receive in lieu of inconvertible "gold,"

As regards the plans of the railway company itself, we need only refer our readers to the interview given by Mr. Mann in the current issue. The programme is of considerable interest in Vancouver, and though opinions are still in the nebulous stage, we may safely assume that this city will profit largely by the building of the new line from one border of the province to the other. Mr. Mann expresses the opinion that work will be completed well within the time specified in the agreement with the government. The vice-president of the Canadian Northern is not wont to indulge in super-optimism or to say more than he considers justifiable, and his categorical assertion in this regard opens up a bright vista for the immediate future. We would commend to our readers the suggestions given out by a prominent local Conservative, as given elsewhere. "They are in line with the advice which we have already given, that the party do not assume the victory before it is won. No attitude in an election campaign is more dangerous, and it is one that implies a lack of organization deplorable in the extreme. The Conservatives, in the interests of the province as a whole, need every seat in the House that can be won, and we are sure that the various constituencies will act in accordance with Mr. Woodworth's admonitions, and secure that harmony among themselves and with great benefit to the coast cities."

The Province has the following:

It will be observed that in the agreement arrived at the province is abundantly secured, first mortgage being obtained upon the road as security for the guarantee, as well as a covenant from the entire Canadian Northern system. A limited mileage, too, has been fixed to which the guarantee of the company's arrangement is plain and is frankly and completely set forth in the government's declaration. Should the public lend its approval to the understanding arrived at work will be started within three months of assent to the bill; and the road from Yellowhead Pass is to be completed within four years. Under the conditions these four years would mean four years of immense activity and progress in British Columbia.

A plain understandable businesslike policy is thus set before the people, a policy of progress and development, and the government asks the country whether it will endorse and support that policy, with the guarantees of security with which it is surrounded, or whether it is not yet prepared to take that forward step which will secure the financial standing of the province, justifies it in taking. Of course, there is no question whatever as to the result.

The government is to be congratulated on having brought the elections on sufficiently early so as not to interfere with business; had a later date in the year been set, the Christmas trade would have suffered.

There will be very general regret that Mr. R. M. Palmer has determined to resign the position of Deputy Minister of Agriculture and engage in private business. Doubtless the position he is about to take carries with it greater financial rewards than any place in the public service. The government is fortunate in having such an excellent man as Mr. W. E. Scott available as his successor. Mr. Scott has already shown his great fitness for official position.

Mr. John Oliver has had advisers or he would not have made public the statement which appeared in an evening paper yesterday. He says that he was misrepresented by The Colonist as having said that he approved of aid to the railway which the Canadian Northern has contracted to construct. Our reporter says that Mr. Oliver stated what he reported him as stating, and a perusal of Mr. Oliver's speech, as reported in the paper which supports him, bears out what the reporter for The Colonist said. Seeing that Mr. Oliver stated that The Colonist represented him as not favoring aid to a line through the Hope Mountains, when it expressly stated that such a railway formed a part of his programme, we are forced to conclude that Mr. Oliver cannot always trust his own memory. But the people of British Columbia are not particularly concerned as to whether Mr. Oliver or The Colonist's shorthand reporter was correct. What they want to know is if Mr. Oliver is in favor of a railway from the Yellow Head Pass to Kamloops, thence down the Fraser to New Westminster and Vancouver, opening the fertile lands of the Fraser river valley, thence to Vancouver Island and Victoria and thence to Barkley Sound. This is the issue, not whether Mr. Oliver remembers correctly what he said at a public meeting. It is to this point to which we invite the earnest consideration of the Leader of the Opposition.

1204 DOUGLAS ST.
(Vernon Block)News of the World in Brief*PROVINCIAL*Oppenheimer Memorial.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—Plans for the erection of a memorial to the late David Oppenheimer, second mayor of Vancouver, were developed at a meeting of civic and citizens' committees last evening. The outcome of the gatherings was the decision to have the memorial take the form of a $60,000 stone arch, triple in form, and provided with ornamental gates, at the immediate entrance to Stanley park on the Georgia street side. The structure will span a causeway 100 feet wide, and the proposal made last evening was that Augustus St. Gaudens, one of the foremost sculptors and designers on the continent, should be asked to carry out the plan.

War on Chinese Lotteries.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—The hearing of the case against the three Chinamen, Low Ben, Lo Cum, and Lon Gen, who are charged with conducting a lottery, will proceed with in the police court tomorrow, and as many of the nineteen white men who were caught in the place as the prosecution wants, will give evidence. William Evans, who was among the white men, and who was held over till today, was this morning allowed his freedom, and the charge was withdrawn. All of the white men are now at liberty. There are several lottery joints in Chinatown, but since the raid on the place at 30 Hastings street East, the others have not opened up. This is the first time the police have been able to proceed against the lotteries. On numerous occasions before, they tried unsuccessfully to gather evidence.

Sentences at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—Three prisoners committed for trial, twelve true bills returned by the grand jury and four convictions. This is the record of the fall assizes. There still remains one prisoner to be tried, Charles Egan of Prince Rupert, on the charge of murder, in whose case the jury disagreed on Tuesday. Egan will be retried tomorrow. Herbert S. Duplisse, was acquitted on the charge of assault on a girl at North Vancouver. Peter Besovi, a member of the police force, was sentenced to two years and six months for extortion from a lodging-house keeper. Ogato, the Japanese convicted of stabbing, was given two years. Alexander Cameron, also found guilty of stabbing a companion, gets one year. The negro Moore, who was charged with killing Paddy O'Brien in a fishing boat in the inlet, was last night discharged. Moore has been twice tried, and in both trials the jury disagreed.

Mortimore's Assaults.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—One of the alleged assailants of William Mortimore, the young mill hand who now lies in a critical condition with a fractured skull in the general hospital, was captured last night by Detective O'Grady, who, following out a clue secured from the injured man, arrested David Lang, a young Chinese, who was hanging around a Chinese pool-room opposite the Great Northern depot. Late yesterday the police were notified that Mortimore had regained consciousness, and Detective O'Grady went to his bedside. Mortimore was able to give the detectives a good account of how he was injured. He said he had trouble with three men, and one of them beat him with a billiard cue. He named Lang as one of the men. This morning Magistrate Williams allowed an adjournment of the accused's Chinaman's hearing for one week, and set the amount of bail at $1,000.

Fines For Selling Elk's Teeth.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—Three jewelers were in the police court this morning charged with dealing in elk teeth, contrary to a recent amendment to the game protection act, and each of them pleaded ignorance of the law. A. F. McMillan offered to sell three teeth to a deputy game warden, while David Wedder actually sold three, and A. L. Kauffman bought one. Magistrate Williams assessed a fine of $5 in each case, but could not find any authority to confiscate the teeth, so they were given back to the owners. During the hearing it developed that it was not illegal to have elk teeth in one's possession, but he must not buy or sell them. Mr. McMillan stated that the teeth he offered for sale had been in his store some years, having been purchased in the United States. Magistrate Williams construed the law to mean the dealing in elk teeth whether they were secured in British Columbia or not. These were the first cases of the kind ever tried here since the amendment became effective, and a great many jewellers no doubt will find many valuable elk teeth in their possession which they will be unable to dispose of unless they give them away. A. Bryan Williams, game warden, who brought the prosecution this morning, stated that it was not unlawful to give the teeth away.

CALGARY, Oct. 21.—By December, Calgary will have an automatic telephone exchange equipment for 500 instruments. This will be operated in the eastern portion of the city, the installation being sanctioned by Hon. W. H. Cushing, and being the result of his recent investigations in the East. When the success of the automatic system has been thoroughly proven, the entire telephone system in the city will probably be made automatic.

Rush of Land Seekers.

CALGARY, Oct. 21.—Crowded hotels, which, in their endeavor to accommodate patrons, place long strings of cots in hallways, announce in their own way that there has been no cessation of the rush of land seekers to this district. All the hotel accommodations in the city is engaged for days ahead. That those who are buying are not merely speculators is evidenced by the fact that many are endeavoring to secure houses in the city with a view to moving their families to Calgary preparatory to going into residence upon their land in spring, and many who bought land here a few months ago are inquiring if it will be possible

Engineer Alanson Wright, of Matamoras, Pa., and trainman Emmitt Quick, of Port Jervis, were thrown under the engine and badly scalded before they could be taken out. The two men were buried in the wreck for over an hour. The heavy fog is supposed to have prevented the engineer from seeing the signal at the switch. A number of cars loaded with merchandise were demolished, and the west-bound track was blocked for three hours.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Meeting Not Held

No meeting of the police commission was held yesterday afternoon as was intended. The meeting will probably not be held until some time next week.

Young People Meet

The monthly social of the Y.P.S.C.E.
of St. Paul's church, Victoria West, was held at the manse on Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance and all enjoyed a delightful impromptu programme of songs and instrumental music, after which refreshments were served and the meeting closed in the usual way.

Slow Registration

With but ten days more within which householders and license holders may register in order that their names may be put upon the municipal voters' list there have been but 400 registrations made. Over 1,100 more must register before the end of the month in order to bring the total up to that of last year.

Theme is Musical.

In view of the fact that the motif of the Cilmex, the play at the Victoria theatre tonight, is a musical one, a box has been placed by the management at the disposal of members of the executive of the Victoria Musical society. Mr. George Phillips, Stewart Williams, and Charles Rhodes will attend.

Delay in Installation

Work on the installation of the pumping machinery of the salt water,
high pressure system is still proceeding. It was expected that the pumps would have been installed and ready for the test some time ago, but it develops that some of the parts as received here from Philadelphia were not correct, and some changes had to be made here resulting in considerable delay. When the entire pumping system will be finally installed is uncertain, but it will be some time before the test of the system will be made.

Night Registration

Arrangements have been made whereby householders and license holders who find it difficult to attend during the day at the city hall and register their names on the municipal voters' list may make the necessary declarations during the evenings. For the balance of this week registration may be made during the evening at Fawcett's Drug Store, corner of King's road and Douglas street, as well as at the Oak Bay Junction drug store, and also every night next week.

Clean Up Walks!

Property owners and householders must hereafter keep the sidewalks in front of their premises clean. The police have issued a mandate that the provisions of the streets by-laws relative to refuse, leaves, and other waste matter as well as overhanging bushes must be observed. Yesterday householders on Fort street above Cook street were notified to clean the walks of fallen leaves, and have the hedges and bushes overhanging the sidewalk trimmed. Failure to observe the regulations renders the guilty person liable to a maximum fine of $50.

Young Women's Club

The Young Women's Metropolitan club held their opening banquet on Wednesday night. There was a large attendance and a most enjoyable evening was spent by the young ladies and their friends. The tables were very prettily decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums set in the form of the letter L. Fourteen new members joined the society and it is anticipated that the meetings this season will be even more profitable and pleasant than those of last year. After supper a number of toasts were proposed and happily responded to by Mr. Brace, Rev. E. E. Holling, Mrs.
Gleason, Mrs. Brace, Mrs. Goodacre and Miss Foxall.

OBITUARY NOTICES

The death occurred last evening of Mrs. Adelaide Annie Tolpitt, at the Royal Jubilee hospital. Deceased, who stone, England. The remains have been removed to the Hanna undertaking parlors, and the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Calgary merchant, who died in the

SCIENCE SCORES AGAIN.

A Preparation That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ Discovered.
Finally the scientific student has discovered a certain remedy for dandruff. When it first became known that dandruff is the result of a germ or parasite that digs into the scalp and saps the vitality of hair at the root, causing falling hair and baldness, biologists set to work to discover some preparation that will kill the germ. After a year's labor in one laboratory, the dandruff germ destroyer was discovered; and it is now embodied in Newbro's Herpicide. It prevents baldness, stops falling hair and speedily eradicates dandruff. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists.

WIFE GETS JUDGMENT

Supreme Court of Canada Renders Judgment in Local Legal Tangle

A telegram from Ottawa received yesterday reports that judgment in the case of Brownell vs. Brownell, a case which has aroused considerable interest in local legal circles, has been rendered by the supreme court.

The action was brought by the plaintiff, Mildred Vernon Brownell, against her husband, Alvaro Brownell, claiming a declaration that a partnership existed between them from 17th April, 1883, to date with respect to the defendant's real and personal estate and for an account and for judgment. The plaintiff alleged that the joint earnings of both were to be partnership funds. The parties left British Columbia in September, 1899, and had not lived together for over nine years. At the trial before the Hon. Mr. Justice Martin, V. J. Taylor, the plaintiff's counsel, being dissatisfied with the rulings of the judge as to his right to ask irrelevant questions, withdrew from the court during the cross-examination of the defendant, and judgment was given for the defendant. The plaintiff appealed to the Full Court of the Supreme Court of British Columbia. A new trial was ordered, and the defendant ordered to pay the costs of the appeal and of the trial below; the Hon. Mr. Justice Irving dissenting. The defendant appealed from this judgment to the Supreme Court of Canada.

In the meantime the plaintiff was allowed to withdraw the security
given by her for the costs of her appeal to the Full Court, and she issued execution against the defendant for her costs of said appeal, and sold up his farming stock and implements
other than the few things allowed under the Homestead Exemption Act, and the defendant had to leave his farm in order to earn a living.

The appeal was heard by the Supreme Court of Canada on the 12th
inst., and judgment reserved.

The judgment delivered allows the defendant's appeal with costs, and restores the judgment of the Hon. Mr.
Justice Martin. Messrs. Fell and Gregory represent the appellant, and
Mr. Aikman the respondent.

FIRST SETTLER AT PEDDER BAY

Edward Vine, a B. C. Pioneer, Dies at Age of Eighty Years

A pioneer of Metchoin, where over fifty years ago he settled at Pedder Bay and commenced the clearing of some of the finest agricultural land in the province, Edward Vine, aged 80 years, passed away yesterday at the residence of his nephew, H. D. D. Lawson, 1216 North Park street. He had been in poor health for six months, his ailments confining him to bed.

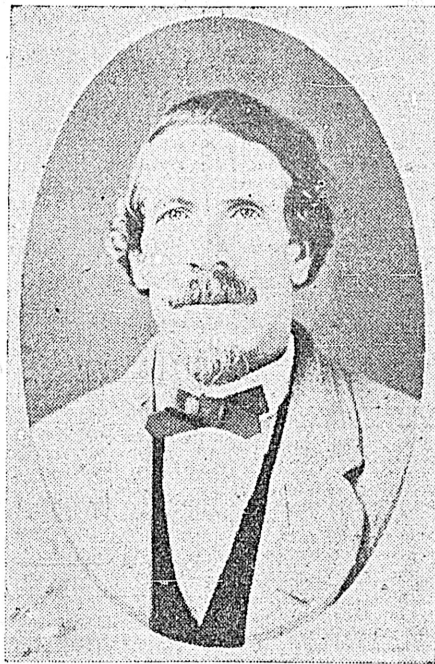

A native of Kings Lynn, Norfolk, Eng., the late Mr. Vine came to Canada in 1851. A seaman by training he followed this profession for nearly seven years after arriving on this coast. He acquired a good knowledge been living at the Colonial hotel. For the past week or two he had been complaining of feeling unwell, and for the past two days remained in his room. Yesterday morning the Chinese porter, finding the door locked, and getting no response to repeated knocks, informed the proprietor, and the room door was opened by a pass key, when Parker was discovered lying dead on his bed. So far as is known deceased had no relatives in this country.

CROOKS MUST RETURN

Men Arraigned for Theft of Redfern Jewels to Be Deported to Australia

Failing in their application to Mr. Justice Martin on habeas corpus proceedings yesterday morning, R. Russell, P. Foley alias P. Lowry and J. Charles alias J. Stewart, the three crooks who are believed to have been implicated in the robbery from the establishment of Redfern & Sons, of $4,000 worth of diamonds, will have to go back to Australia. Since their arrest in Vancouver and subsequent arraignment here on the charge of stealing the diamonds, on which charge they were discharged, but immediately afterwards arrested and of local waters, and in 1854 piloted the first vessel which ever loaded coal at Nanaimo out of the harbor. This was the brig Cyrus in the command of Captain Diggs. In 1858 Mr. Vine took up land from the government at Pedder Bay, where he was the first settler to locate. The land he purchased for the sum of $5 an acre, having ten years today, and with the privilege of pre-empting as many more acres as he liked.

For many years Mr. Vine engaged in improving his property, and his experience and industry were valuable helps to the many new settlers who came to that district. He was a man of indomitable energy and perseverance, and the progress of the Pedder Bay district is associated with his name. In ploughing up his land for the first time he came upon many curious and interesting Indian relics, which showed that Pedder Bay must have been the camping ground of some tribe in the ages gone by.

Some years ago the late Mr. Vine sold his property, including his beautifully situated residence, "Glenrosa," to T. Reid, and it now has come into possession of the latter's son-in-law, J. D. Reid. The residence is situated on a knoll at the extreme head of the bay amidst scenes of picturesque attractiveness.

The deceased is survived by an uncle and a number of nephews. The remains have been removed to the chapel of the B. C. Funeral and Furnishing Company, from where the funeral will be held on Sunday, the cortege proceeding to Metchoin, where interment will take place in the Church of England graveyard.

JOHN PARKER DIES SUDDENLY

Old-time Resident of Victoria Found Dead in His Bed

Lying on the bed in his room, where he had died unknown to the other occupants of the Colonial hotel, John Parker, for the past forty years a resident of Victoria, was found dead yesterday morning shortly before ten o'clock. Death, which was due to heart failure consequent on the enfeebled condition of the deceased, had apparently taken place a day or two ago. The police were notified, and the body was taken to the undertaking rooms of the B. C. Funeral Furnishing Company, where it will remain pending arrangements for the funeral. The police have wired Mrs. Charlotte Jacques, Bowmanville, Ill., a sister of the deceased, notifying her of her brother's death, and asking for instructions relative to the disposal of the body.

The late Mr. Parker, who had been better known as "Honest John," came to this country in the days of the Cariboo excitement, and after several years in the gold fields, returned to Victoria, where he had resided ever since. He had been employed for years as a bartender, but during the past few years had done nothing, his advancing years and enfeebled health precluding him from working. During the past few years he had held by the Dominion Immigration authorities, the three men have been in jail pending the receipt by the local immigration authorities of instructions from Ottawa. Their application for release was opposed yesterday by Frank Higgins, representing the Dominion government, who showed from the information received by the local police from the Australian authorities that the trio are dangerous crooks, whose records in the Antipodes stamp them as men who would stick at nothing. The three will be returned to Australia on the Marana when she sails from this port for Australia.

MIX-UP CAUSED IN ASSIZE COURT

Constable Allows Jurors in Murder Trial to Wander
Abroad

NELSON, B. C., Oct. 21.—The trial of Kootenay Frank, an Indian, for murder, which commenced yesterday before Chief Justice Hunter and a jury, came to an abrupt ending this morning, when the court was informed that the constable in charge of the jury over night at the Strathcona hotel had allowed some of the members of the jury to go to town last evening and attend to their affairs. The Chief Justice found out that in murder cases the jury are not allowed to separate under the statutory provision, and he accordingly stopped the case and dismissed the jury.

As A. M. Johnson for the defence had challenged 20 of the jurors summoned, the crown two and two had been excused for cause. Sheriff Tuck was instructed to empanel 50 jurymen, and from these a trial jury will be selected in the morning and the case against the Indian will be commenced all over again. The defence have so far shut out three of the alleged confessions said to have been made to the provincial police and others, but has intimated that the accused will be placed in the witness box on his own behalf, when the whole story of the killing of Antoine will be told.

Mr. Justice Clement is here, and he will take up tomorrow the charge against Lockhart, of Fernie, charged with the theft of a portion of the relief funds raised at the time of the Fernie fire in August last year.

All business at the assizes was blocked today by constables blunder.

The pleasant purgative effect experienced by all who use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and the healthy condition of the body and mind which they create, makes one feel joyful.

TO OPEN BANK OF VANCOUVER HERE

New Institution to Be Controlled and Managed by Western Men

In addition to the existing Canadian banks, which, as announced in the Colonist, will shortly open branches in this city, Victoria will have yet another banking institution in a few months. The Bank of Vancouver, which has been in process of organization for some time, will shortly commence operations here.

Several Victorians are prominently interested in this institution, amongst others T. W. Paterson, who is a member of the provisional board of directors. Subscriptions to the capital stock of the company have been such as to permit of making the necessary deposit with the treasury department required by the provisos of the act. In consequence the federal authorities have issued license to the subscribers to call a meeting to open the bank and to pass by-laws for the regulation of its internal affairs.

The plans formed at the inception of the bank have been strictly adhered to, and the statement is made that the new institution will be controlled and managed by western men. Every detail of its organization is receiving vigorous attention, and the bank will open for business about New Year's Day.

The founders of the bank include F. A. Jones, R. L. McLennan, H. L. Jenkins, J. A. Harvey, T. W. Paterson, L. W. Shattford, J. A. Mitchell, and W. H. Malkin.

J. Dewar, the secretary of the provisional board of directors, has been a banker for forty years. In 1868, at 16 years of age, he began work with the Bank of British North America, and after six years he entered the service of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, with which he remained for 19 years. During the last six years of this time he was manager of a Chicago branch. He left that position to organize the American Exchange Bank of Chicago, which existed until absorbed by larger banks. He began to organize the Bank of Vancouver in April, 1908.

The new bank, in addition to offices in Vancouver and Victoria, will have branches at one in New Westminster, Prince Rupert, and other important points in British Columbia. It is expected that the banks will actually open for business during the early months of the coming year.

ROAD WILL TAP FINE DISTRICTS

Arrangement With Kettle Valley Line of Much Benefit to Province

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—Under the terms of the agreement between the provincial government and the Kettle Valley Railway, providing for the payment of a subsidy of $5,000 per mile for 150 miles, construction work will be started next spring at four different points.

The line will link the Boundary district with the Fraser Valley, as well as tap the Okanagan and Similkameen districts. When completed, it will reduce the time between Vancouver and Penticton to eight hours, Midway twelve hours, Grand Forks thirteen hours and Nelson eighteen hours.

A line following the water grade of the Kettle River will be built from Curlew, Wash., on the Grand Forks-Republic portion of the Kettle Valley system, to Midway, in the Boundary district. From Midway the railway will ascend the main stream and the west fork of Kettle river, and cross the summit to Penticton, at the foot of Okanagan Lake. From there the road will run to a connection with the C. P. R. at Nicola, the route being via Osprey Lake, Aspen Grove, Otter Creek and Coldwater River. A branch five miles long will be built into Princeton. From Coldwater summit an extension will be built across Hope Mountains and down the Coquella river to navigable water on the Fraser, and there connection can be made with the C. P. R., Canadian Northern or Grand Trunk Pacific.

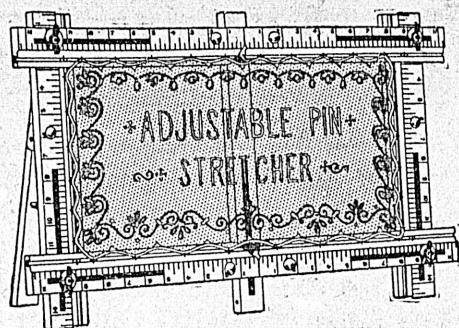

A route map has already been approved by the minister of railways. The proposed line will tap the most fertile sections of the Okanagan and the Similkameen districts, as well as open up the rich mining region of West Kootenay, where a dozen mines only await transportation facilities to become steady shippers.

The system will have a total mileage of 250. The maximum gradient will be one and one-half per cent. in crossing the summit between West Fork and Princeton, and one-half per cent. the remainder of the distance to Nicola the grade will be less than one-half of one per cent.

Here and There

There are many things which indicate that British Columbia will, in the near future, have to face the problems of immigration which are now being dealt with in the provinces of the middle west. Hitherto development has been gradual and the people who have come to us from different countries have become assimilated as they came.

Excepting those of the Orientals, there are few foreign colonies. Belgians and Italians are to be found among the miners both on Vancouver Island and in the interior. In our city there is a sprinkling of people from Southern as well as from other European countries. Scandinavians have formed small settlements in a few places and very lately a colony of Doukhobors have taken up agricultural land in the Kootenay valley. But on the whole British Columbia is, as its name would indicate, the home of British people. In no district would immigrants from any part of the United Kingdom find himself more of a stranger than if he went to live in York or Edinburgh or Newcastle. There are, of course, numbers of people living in all our towns and cities who have come from the United States but these are not easily distinguishable from Eastern Canadians or, indeed, from Englishmen themselves. No doubt all of these people have a pride of race and of nationality. We have many societies where those who have common traditions and come from the same locality foregather on certain occasions. But in the ordinary intercourse of life, in our business and our schools we are one people without dislikes or prejudices.

But, if this state of affairs is to last, it will be necessary to make some effort to bring among us immigrants from Great Britain than has formerly been the case. Our country is being opened up and the process will go on more rapidly. It is true that settlement cannot go on here as quickly as it has done on the prairies. The land must be cleared. This is a slower and more difficult process here than it was in western Canada. But when it is cleared the agriculturist is not hindered by a long and severe winter. This is especially true of Vancouver Island.

It is not likely that there will be on the Pacific slope anything resembling the influx of American farmers that has occurred in Alberta and to a less extent in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The neighboring States of Washington and Oregon are still, to a considerable extent, undeveloped and farmers and fruitgrowers are not likely to leave their homes for new ones on this side of the line. This does not apply to capitalists who find in our forests, our mines and elsewhere profitable fields for investment. The choice then for new settlers, for the men and women who are to do the work that will turn our forest clad hills and valleys into orchards or dairy farms and who will build our cities lies between the people of the mother land and those from European countries. There will be, in the future, as in the past, a large number of our fellow Canadians who will be attracted from their Eastern homes by the greater opportunities of a new and rich country. But the source of supply will not be large enough for the growing needs of the province.

In Great Britain there are thousands of people who need the work that will in the course of a few years await the workers. Why should people live in want and anxiety there when their labor is needed here? We are told that the hand of the British workman has lost its cunning, that he cannot adapt himself to his environment.

But there is a new generation growing up. Miss Wilkerson and several of the visitors who were here last summer told us how in agricultural schools the young women were preparing themselves for work on the land in this new country, and how others were training for domestic service. The newspapers have given accounts of a similar experiment in the case of young men destined for life in Australia. It is true, these beginnings are very small. The Salvation Army has done similar work. But there students have been men and women and the work of education has been continued on this continent.

Is it not possible that in this direction lies not only the solution of the immigration question, but of the relief of the distress in the mother country? We want on this coast people who are well-to-do and there is little doubt that a number of those in the old land who have moderate incomes will find in this province an agreeable place to live and one in which their sons and daughters will have wider opportunities of future usefulness than they would find at home. All that needs to be done to attract such immigrants is to tell them the truth about our province. Unless they are happy here the country is better without them and misrepresentation is sure to end in disappointment and discontent.

But what the country needs most is not the men and women of mature years who come to rest when their life's work is over, but those who have strength and vigor and ambition and who are ready for any honest task, however difficult it may be.

If now there are too many mechanics, factory operators of both sexes, and men and women fitted for clerical employments in Great Britain, cannot their children be taught how to cultivate the land and be sent to Canada where there are orchards, wheat fields and room for them to grow? The Empire will be the gainer if British Columbia is peopled in future, as it has been in the past, by Britons and they will be the happier and the country more prosperous if they are trained for the work which they must undertake.

It is to be hoped that before long there will be on this island an agricultural college where the lads of the province may acquire an intelligent knowledge of farming. Every year young men are leaving our cities to help by their industry and talents to build up other communities. In our sparsely peopled province we cannot spare these workers. We need those who have grown up here and they should make our most valuable citizens.

But, we are told, that when a lad has made himself master of a trade, unless he has exceptional ability he can no longer find employment at home and must go away to secure higher wages. However that may be, there is one occupation that needs intelligent and skilled workers. There is much uncultivated land, and more is being cleared. The market for fruit has already far outgrown the supply, and thousands of consumers are pouring into the prairies.

Is there any reason why the sons of Victorians should not prepare for a profitable occupation in which a life on which none is more wholesome? If, in connection with the model farm, to be established here, there were a good agricultural school, lads would have an opportunity of acquiring both the scientific and practical knowledge needed for the successful cultivation of the soil. This would be a great advantage.

It used to be the fashion for young ladies to study astronomy, but now very few know where to look for the constellations, or can distinguish the planets. An attempt has been made by the department of education in this province to encourage the children to become familiar with the appearance of the sky by making it one of the departments of nature study. But the inside of a telescope in daylight is not the most favorable time to learn about the stars. But if an elementary knowledge of the fascinating science of astronomy is not as common as in the days of our grandmothers, there are a number of women who have devoted their lives to its pursuit. Among these one of the most noted is Miss Mary Proctor, daughter of the astronomer, Sir Richard A. Proctor. The native home of Miss Proctor was Ireland, though she has spent the greater part of her life in the United States. She acquired her taste for astronomy by helping her father.

Miss Proctor has the rare and delightful talent of being able to delight children with her stories, and of clothing her knowledge in simple and charming words. Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago, discovered Miss Proctor's ability as a story teller, and engaged her to lecture to audiences of children. She has since undertaken to tell her stories to children of larger growth, and is at present in England, where her lectures are greatly appreciated.

Miss Proctor is, too, an author of books for children. "Stories of Starland" and "Great Sun and His Family" are among the most delightful of nature books.

In an article, in which he traces the history of the suffrage movement, the editor of the Toronto Globe assumes that it will be ultimately successful, and that the women of Great Britain will be given the franchise. If the editor's conclusions are correct, our wonder is whether this is a consummation devoutly to be wished. The Globe says:

"When the franchise is extended, there will be no evidence of the disaster predicted by opponents, or the great uplift predicted by advocates. In self-governing countries women are, on the average, more backward than men in political education. Their enfranchisement will bring a slight reaction, because a great force of reactionary opinion will make itself felt. It will not be merely the enfranchisement of the women now distinguished in public service, as well as in the suffrage agitation, but of the great mass of the indifferent and uneducated. The resultant reaction will be unavoidable, for political progress must wait on general enlightenment. The extended franchise will result in the choice of the same types that are chosen now, and the elected representatives will reflect not only the wisdom and patriotism, but the stupidity and indifference of the electorate."

Among those who visited Victoria with the delegates to the International Congress of Women was Miss Hill. A few days ago Miss Hill gave an address in Toronto before the Woman's Canadian Historical Society, in which she described her trip to Skagway, Alert Bay, and other points along the coast.

A Fancy.

Above the Birches were dreams adrift
For spent was the bright October day.
The flight of the homing birds was swift
And I drank of wonder upon my way—
Drank the draught from a wind-tossed cup
With soul athrill and with thirst akeen,
While the sky in the east held darkening clouds
And the sky in the west the sunset sheen.

The whispering Birches saw her first—
The Autumn Nymph with her rustling feet—
The Frost had wounded her glowing heart,
But she spoke as, fair, as she passed us,
To her we lifted our gold-red cups—
"Here's to the maid who can smile and smile die!"

Then we watched her enter the painted wood,
The affrighted Birches—the Wind—and I.

ABOUT WOMEN

The Princess of Wales is the most expert needlewoman of the British royal family. She, indeed, is rarely to be seen without a needle in her hand during her leisure moments. Her daughter, Princess Mary, of Wales, takes after her mother in this respect, and is becoming quite expert in the use of the needle.

Every year the Princess of Wales assists the Queen and Princess Victoria to send large parcels of warm winter clothing to the tenantry on the Sandringham estates, many of these articles being made by her personally.

Mrs. Cobden Anderson, who has been making such a spirited protest on behalf of the "workhouse mother," is one of the remarkable sisterhood. The daughter of Richard Cobden, she and her sisters, one of whom is Mrs. Fisher Unwin, have taken an active part of late years in all women questions, and all have that keen sense of sympathy with suffering and impatience of oppression which have made of them thoroughgoing philanthropists. Like Mrs. Unwin, Mrs. Anderson is a warm friend of reform, and a strong Liberal. She has, in fact, all the pertinacity of purpose and concentrated energy which are necessary to those who have a passion for setting the world to rights.

Mrs. Jeannette Ryder, an American woman who has been doing humane work in Cuba for the last ten years, is said to have done more to suppress bull and cock fighting on the island than any other person. For this purpose several years ago she organized a band of mercy, with a membership composed chiefly of young men and women, who believe in training the youth of the country to look with abhorrence on institutions tending to lower the moral standard.

Mrs. Elizabeth Garrett Anderson, M. D., Mayor of Aldeburgh, England, opened the fair recently held in London by the Women's Social and Political Union. Mrs. Herta Tilton, the member of the Institute of Electrical Engineers, opened it on the second day, Miss Beatrice Harraden on the third, Mrs. Kendal, president of the Actresses' Franchise League on the fourth, and Lady Constance Lytton on the fifth. The fair is said to have been a great success both financially and as a means of gaining converts for the suffrage movement in Great Britain.

Annie Louise Carey, the famous contralto, is now living at Norwalk, Conn., the home of her late husband, Charles M. Raymond. Although retired from the stage, the singer is in possession of a handsome share of the world's goods, which amounts to about half a million dollars. Of this $300,000 came on her husband's death. She is rated as a good business woman, never indulging in the luxuries of a press agent or even a manager, and making all her own investments.

The Wife.

I stretch out both my hands to you—
It pleased you once to call them fair;
Look now and see if anywhere
Are hands more scarred and worn Than these
That lost their fairness serving you.

I lift up my two eyes to you—
It pleased you once to call them
sweet;
Judge now if any eyes repeat
Their lack of light—poor eyes that wept
Their sweetness out in guarding you.

Oh, hands and eyes once dear to you,
I would not they had served you less,
Yet hands like these who might
caress,
Nor eyes like these who love again
For all their wistful prayer to you.
—By Theodosia Garrison.

Sister of a Summer.

Little Sister of a Summer,
Yule the living leaves were green
It was good indeed to know you
And your friendly smiles to glean.

You were like the breeze-blown
meadows,
Wholly simple, wholly sweet,
Offering your fragrance freely,
Hiding snares for no one's feet.

I could loiter with you lightly,
Wander with you anywhere,
As I linger with a flower,
As beside a brook I'd fare.

Little Sister of a Summer,
Now the leaves are turning brown,
And the pleasant country places
Are but memories here in town.

Do not think that I forget you
In the press of present care;
Do not think the season's pleasures
Leave no hour for you to share.

Rather know that not infrequent
Are the moments when I see,
Through the mazy maze of matters,
Your young face looks prettily.
To relieve my labor's heat.

Little Sister of a Summer,
You are still so dear to me
That I pray you be not thoughtless
Of your brother utterly!
—Seumas O'Sheel, in N. Y. Times.

JIM JEFFRIES HAS ARRIVED

Meeting Will Be Held Tuesday to Consider Fight—California May Be Scene

COFFROTH GOES WITH AN OFFER

Big Smoke and Boilermaker Likely to Get Together in Near Future

Jim Jeffries has landed at New York from the four-funnel liner Lusitania, and there will be fight talk galore now, and mayhap there may, in time, be a contest between the big Californian and the giant smoke from Galveston, who assassinated the Assassin Ketchel a few days ago. There will be a fight, for Jeff says so himself, and Coffroth is on his way to New York to see if he can make arrangements for the go.

A meeting has been arranged to take place on Tuesday between Jeffries, his manager Sam Berger, George Little, manager of Johnson and James Coffroth, who is said to have ready an offer of a large purse for the fight to take place in San Francisco. Before leaving S. F. Coffroth said: "I will offer Jeffries either a guaranteed purse or one made up on the percentage basis," said Coffroth. "I intend to make my offer as tempting as possible, and I believe that my chances for landing the match are very good. Of course there will be some lively bidding for the attraction, but in view of the big houses that San Francisco has always pulled to big fights, I do not see how anyone can offer more than I."

Big Jim has been at Carlsbad taking the baths, and he says he is ready to do battle. The general consensus of opinion of sporting writers is that the contest will take place in California. Jeffries has said several times that he would not care to visit a foreign country and attempt to train in a strange climate. This shot was probably directed at Australia, the upside down land where summer is winter.

Eliminating Australia there remains England and France. England is out of the question. France is hardly to be considered, though it is a natural haven for fighters. It is against the law to hold a finish fight in Paris, but when that law is broken the fighters are fined about $2 and the incident is closed. A lovely country, but hardly right for the big event.

So it will probably take place in America, and if in America, California will probably secure the plum. They are still able to stage "limited round contests" in the Golden State, and they set the limit anywhere under 45 rounds and let it go at that.

The day of the big finish fights in Nevada is past. There have been but two really great battles in the Silver state, one in Carson and the other at Goldfield. The present condition of the wild camps of the southern end of the state—Carson City has been asleep for years and years—makes it a certainty that no giant sum will be subscribed by a Nevada camp.

In spite of a world of boasting when Goldfield was at its best, the Giant Nelson fight was not a money-maker, and the real amount of coin taken in at the gate fell miles below the amount advertised as the gross receipts. If this is doubted, recall that Goldfield never again went after a big fight with a startling offer of coin. Had the first fight been a financial success Goldfield would have been very much in the limelight as the home of the finish fight.

A Fistic Sidelight
W. D. McGeehan, writing of the fight at Colma last Saturday, says: "Prize fighting is not particularly uplifting from any point of view. It wakes the savage that is in the man who sees it. It is not repellent to see the lust of battle shining in the eyes of a man, but in the face of a woman of any sort the emotions that are roused by the sight of blood and battle are not pretty."

"There were women of many sorts at that fight Saturday. There was Johnson's white wife grinning a foolish, fatuous grin as the big blackape man showed his gleaming teeth at her between rounds. She sat in the center of the house gaudily dressed and unconscious of the attention she attracted."

"Close to Ketchel's corner sat two women, one of them with a face that was almost wooden in its lack of expression. She sat and chewed gum through it all and the rise and fall of the muscles of her jaws moving rhythmically were the only signs that distinguished her from a pasty waxen figure."

"The eyes of the other never left Ketchel. When the big black walked over to him and towered above the white man, her eyes opened in fear. When Johnson toyed with Ketchel as a gigantic gorilla might with a white child he had seized and carried into the jungle, a terrible pallor spread over this woman's face and she shuddered."

"All through the fight she craned forward with her staring eyes always on Ketchel's face. Every time the heavy fist of the negro crashed against the white skin and the slender body she started as though the blow struck home at her own form. When the final punch came and Ketchel lay with his arms outstretched, shaking with pain, she half rose with a gasp of agony and then sank back weakly into her seat."

"The perspiration started on her forehead and made little furrows as it dropped down her painted face. Her eyes opened wider and wider until she seemed an incarnation of fear and terror." It was not a pretty sight."

J.B.A.A. Fifteen Will Meet McGill Players in Rugby Game at Royal Athletic Park

All preparations are complete for the Thanksgiving Day Rugby match between the J. B. A. A. and the McGill University of Vancouver. Tomorrow afternoon the Bays will line up against a picked team in charge of John Arbuckle at the Royal Athletic park.

This game will begin immediately after the soccer game, and is slated to start at 4:15 sharp. The team to wear the navy blue of the Bays in the Thanksgiving game is not definitely selected, but will be picked from the following: Full back, Johnson; three-quarters, Bendrodt, Thompson, Vincent, Mason, Carss, or Todd; halves, Winsby, Newcombe, or Grimmason; Forwards, Jeffs (capt.), L. Sweeney, Robson, Jack Sweeney, Hiseock, Scott, Wilson, Turner, Miller, Kennedy, or F. Sweeney.

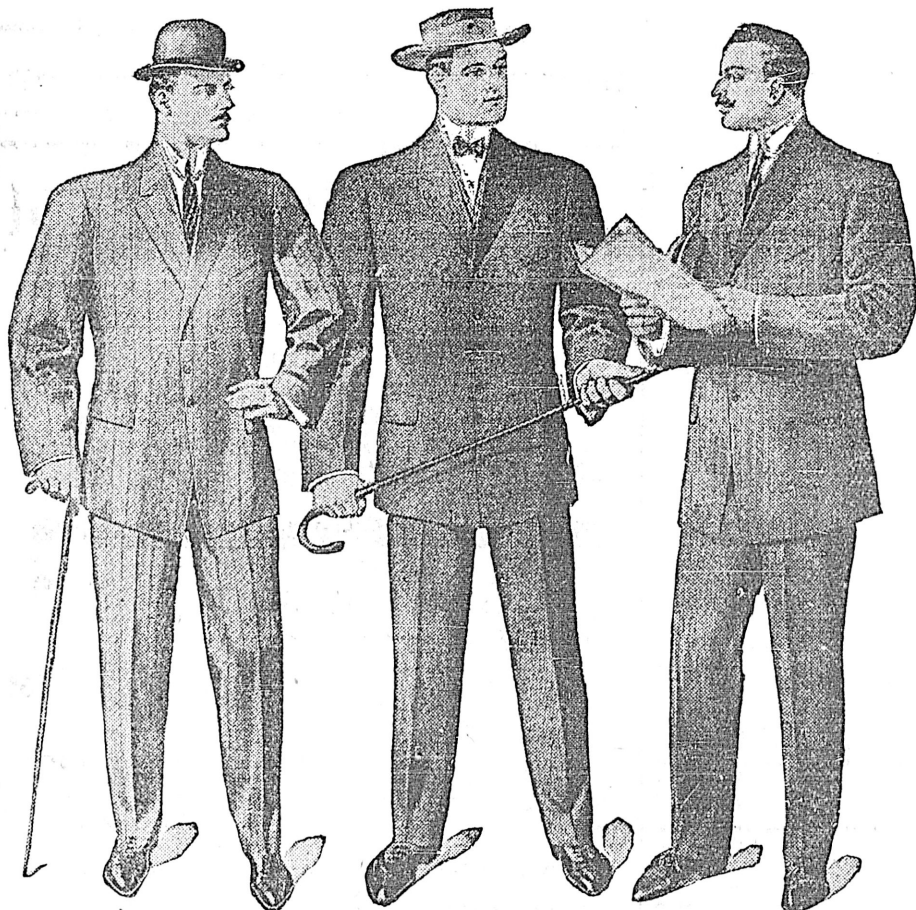

All these men will be given a try-out tomorrow, and the final selection made after the practice game. After Monday night's struggle on the gridiron, the visitors will be entertained at a dance given in the Broad street hall, which has just been opened.

OPENING GAME OF HOCKEY SEASON

Victoria Eleven Meets North Vancouver at Oak Bay on Monday

The formal inauguration of the hockey season in Victoria will take place on Monday (Thanksgiving Day), when the Victoria Hockey Club eleven will meet the North Vancouver team at Oak Bay grounds, the game being scheduled to commence at 3 p. m. The game is an outcome of a challenge sent to the local team by the North Vancouverites. The challenge was left in abeyance for some time owing to the local club having some difficulty in securing grounds, but now this matter has been satisfactorily arranged, and the old venue of Oak Bay will be the scene of the first match of the season on Monday.

The North Vancouver team is practically an unknown quantity, but it is understood to be composed partly of members of the Vancouver club and to be a strong eleven. The local players will hold a practice tomorrow afternoon at Oak Bay, when a full turn out is expected. After the practice the eleven for Monday's match will be selected.

Secretary J. E. Sears, of the Victoria club, has been very active in getting his men together, and through his efforts the club has also been placed on a sound financial basis. A strong attempt will be made by Victoria this season to win the challenge cup, presented for competition among Northwest teams, and the enthusiasm which has already been displayed augurs well for the success of the local eleven. A number of new players have joined the club, and will be seen out at Oak Bay tomorrow afternoon.

WILL DISCUSS DUFFY'S CASE

Executive of the Association League Will Meet Tonight at the Y.M.C.A. Rooms

Tonight the executive of the Victoria and District Association Football league will meet at the Y. M. C. A. One of the principal matters to come before the meeting is the recent disqualification of Sam Duffy, Victoria West's fast player, who is barred from the league games under a recent ruling of the local branch of the B. C. A. U. which declared him a professional. Duffy was not said to be a professional soccer player, but a professional pugilist, and it was on this ground that his amateur standing was taken away. The disqualification of Duffy was somewhat of a "star chamber" proceeding, and the officers of his club are up in arms for his reinstatement. They admit that he boxed for money some years ago, but argue that at that time he played football for Esquimalt without protest, and that at the beginning of the present season all the senior clubs were after his services. All these facts, together with a long statement of the case have been embodied in a letter which has been submitted to the B. C. A. U. by President Tair of the Victoria West Athletic Association, and it is expected that his case will be reopened within a few days.

In the meantime, Duffy himself is hopelessly out of the game, being laid up in St. Joseph's hospital with blood poisoning, contracted while playing the game that brought forth the protest. Duffy's boot rubbed a small abrasion on his toe, and the green dye from his stocking, getting into the wound, caused a painful and possibly dangerous case of blood poisoning. Whatever the ruling of the B. C. A. U. it will be some weeks at least before Duffy will be able to take the field.

Heresy Trial in States
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 21.—The consideration by the Presbyterian Synod of the state of New York, of the heresy charges preferred against the presbytery of New York, in connection with the ordination of Rev. Archibald Black, ended late this afternoon, when the judicial committee of the synod, to which the investigation was referred, reported sustaining the presbytery, and deciding that no further action on the part of the presbytery was called for. The investigation conducted by the committee showed that while the examination of certain candidates for licensure, including Archibald Black, conducted in April, 1909, was not satisfactory, and was not sustained, a subsequent examination was held in June, 1909, when the examinations were sustained by a majority of the presbytery. A minority filled a protest, and later when one of the candidates (Black) applied for ordination and installation the same minority entered protest and notice of complaint to the synod.

MARATHON RUNNER SUES FOR PRIZE

Terway Asks Courts to Award Him Fourth Prize

Victorians who witnessed the recent Marathon at Seattle stated most positively on their return that they considered Fitzgerald entitled to third place instead of Hayes. Now Terway, of Calgary, claims that he and Fitzgerald both beat Hayes, and he has sued the association which staged the big race, for $200, the amount of the fourth prize.

The Seattle Times says: "Terway was given fifth place in the race, just outside the money. He is certain that Fitzgerald finished third and that he himself finished fourth. Hayes was given third place. Terway declares that he was compelled to run five laps more than the full distance, and that Hayes was taken off the track before he had run the full twenty-six miles, 385 yards."

"Terway says he had a man who checked off the laps for him as they were run, and according to this count Hayes did not go the full route, while he had to run five laps too many himself. Terway claims that St. Yves won the race, Marsh was second, Fitzgerald third, and Terway fourth. He does not remember who finished behind him, but he is sure that Hayes did not finish at all."

"It was Fitzgerald's first race of that distance, and he is today confined to his hotel with feet so sore that he cannot walk. The skin is all blistered on the bottom of his feet, and it will be several days before he can get around again."

"Fitzgerald and Terway are not the only ones who believe that Fitzgerald really won third place in the Marathon race last Sunday instead of fourth, which was awarded him. The Times yesterday afternoon printed a story giving Fitzgerald's side of the case, and last night and today men who saw the race kept the telephones busy telling that they thought Fitzgerald was absolutely right in his contention."

"This morning came a batch of letters from men who could not sleep last night until they had told the sporting editor of the Times that they thought Fitzgerald got a raw deal when Hayes was given third place."

William J. Robertson writes: "I know Fitzgerald got a raw deal, as I kept the score of the first five men in the race on my own account. The Fitzgerald says he lapped Hayes four times, two of which Hayes got back later in the race when Fitzgerald was tiring, and therefore he beat Hayes by two laps for third place. The only way I can account for the mistake is that the scorers got the records of Fitzgerald and Hayes mixed. That the scoring was not done correctly is proven by the fact that Marsh was compelled to run one lap more than the full distance. I do not blame Fitzgerald for feeling sore at the way he was treated."

"J. A. Bruce, who says he has followed running races for years, writes: 'I had no interest in the race last Sunday other than as a spectator, and I am satisfied that Fitzgerald did beat John Hayes for third place just as he says he did. Fitzgerald kept right along with St. Yves and Marsh for ten or twelve miles, and during that time they lapped Hayes several times. Even after Fitzgerald fell back from the leaders, Hayes did not pass him excepting half a lap at the finish. If it were left to the spectators I feel sure Fitzgerald would have been given third place.'

"Of course we all know that it would look bad for the lad who won the Marathon race at the Olympic games in London to finish outside the money, especially as he had been given a guarantee of $1500 to come out here, but it is a cinch that the Irish boy from Calgary got a raw deal. The mistake was probably the result of an oversight on the part of the scorers."

Quebec Shoe Factories to Move
QUEBEC, Oct. 21.—Two of Quebec's shoe factories, employing together 550 hands are, according to the Chronicle, about to remove to Montreal, having decided that the labor situation in Quebec has made it impossible to stay in business in their present location and meet the keen competition existing in the Canadian boot and shoe industry. The firms in question are the James Muir company and the Riverside company. It is stated that the employer has entirely lost control of his help. No employee can be discharged without the permission of the union, and after an investigation has been made by the business agent. Men can only be engaged by sending to the office of the union and taking the man next on the waiting list, he is good, bad or indifferent. Wages have been raised to a scale that takes all the profits of the business, and are so large that men will not work a full week.

U. S. Hide Regulations
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Sweeping regulations designed to both facilitate the importation of all hides of cattle and safeguard native livestock by requiring certificates of disinfection signed by American consuls, have been issued by the treasury department to customs officers and all concerned. The new regulations direct customs officers to treat hides of neat cattle shipped to the United States without proper disinfection as prohibited importations, and to refuse entry of such hides, except where such entries have been sun-dried or arsenic-cured or time-cured. Exception also is made in the case of abattoir hides, the product of Great Britain, New Zealand, Australia, Sweden and Norway, and hides taken from American cattle killed in lairage in Great Britain. The disinfection of such hides in this country or their storage in general warehouses will not be permitted, for the reason that the passage of diseased hides through the country or their storage with other goods will tend to the dissemination of cattle diseases in the United States. The regulations provide that certificates of disinfection must be shown upon entry. The regulations do not modify or affect regulations issued under the quarantine law.

SOCCER GAMES ON TOMORROW

Interest Centres in Senior Division Matches Down for Decision

Two matches in the senior division of the Victoria district league, will be played tomorrow. In one the J. B. A. A. eleven will meet the A. O. F. team at Oak Bay, and in the other the Esquimalt club will meet the Victoria Wests at the Royal Athletic park. Both matches will be closely contested. Considerable interest centres on the second appearance of the A. O. F. team in soccer circles. The Foresters gave a good display last Saturday, and their enthusiastic followers are heralding them as the winners of the league.

The Esquimalt and J. B. A. A. teams to take part in tomorrow's contests are as follows:

Esquimalt: Cadogan, W. Young, McDonald, Telford, Malcolm, Hill, Sherin, Kirkwood, Phillips, Griffith, Greenwood, and Pottinger (reserve).
J. B. A. A.: R. Peden, W. Lawson, M. Sayer, Hughes, P. Lawson, T. Kerchen, E. Todd, Jennings, Fairly, J. Houston, J. Peden, and D. Smith and Griffiths (reserves).

In the intermediate division the Esquimalt eleven will play the Fifth Regiment at the Garrison grounds, at 2:30 p. m. The Esquimalt club will be represented by the following players:

Harris, O'Grady, Stuart, D. Young, W. Stuart, Bolton, Ford, J. McArthur, A. Williams, Chapman, and W. McArthur.

SPORTING ITEMS FROM OLD LAND

Flat Racing Season Drawing to Close—Colonial Teams Not Desired

Though the flat racing season will linger on till the last Saturday in November, with the exception of the Cambridgeshire and a few more or less important handicaps, the season is rapidly drawing to a close. Latest reports concerning the Cambridgeshire are to the effect that Mediant, St. Martin and Wedding Bells will all go to the post so that the Americans will make a big effort to carry off the prize. While Sir Martin is the most fancied, many pin their faith to Mediant, the champion sprinter, who will be ridden by O'Neill, the American lightweight jockey. O'Neill went to France this season and won the Prix du Jockey Club on Negotior for W. K. Vanderbilt. He has ridden nearly fifty winners this year.

Enthusiasts in England have become so accustomed to the visits of Colonial teams that the present season is likely to be a dull one in the football world. In this connection the Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News says: "The palate does not crave for the piquant flavoring of matches against New Zealand, South Africa or Australia until it has had a taste. Then it is apt to long for more. However, if one-half of the United Kingdom is inclined to view with favor the scheme of colonial tours the other half is officially opposed to the whole idea, and we may take it for granted that there will be no further interchange of visits for a good many years. At the end of that vague allotment of time we may have happened to kill altogether the chance of further colonial tours—at any rate where Australia or New Zealand are concerned."

The statement of accounts for the test matches played last season in England between the Old Country and the Australians has now been issued. The total receipts amount to £16,397 9s 6d, this being made up as follows: Birmingham, £1572 15s 2d; Lord's, £1470 12s; Leeds, £1244 18s; Manchester, £1315 6s; Kennington Oval, £1206 11s 4d. The Australians take about a third of this amount, and of the balance 60 per cent. goes to the first-class counties and the M. C. C. 30 per cent. to the grounds on which the test matches were played, and 10 per cent. to the second-class counties.

F. J. Wall, secretary of the football association, has received a letter from the South African F. A. inviting a representative International Association team, composed of either amateurs or professionals, or both, to go to the Cape. If a favorable decision is reached the team will leave England in May next and return in September.

The last has been seen on a race course of J. P. Joel's famous horse, Your Majesty, the St. Leger winner of 1908, who has broken down. It is very regrettable that such a good horse should have to go, and is a very severe disappointment to Mr. Joel, inasmuch as in the spring great things were expected of him, but he was nursed for the big prizes of the autumn and his owner has to pay the penalty.

John Roberts, the veteran billiard player, will be handling the cue again this season. He has arranged a game of 9,000 up with Cook, who will receive a 3,000 start. The match will start on November 1. To average 31.92 of 3,262 points is an experience which has befallen Cecil Haverson owing to a wonderful display of Tom Reece. The play of the Lancashire man was phenomenal for a first engagement, and he has already set tongues wagging as to the probability of his reproducing the magnificent form during the winter. On the occasion under notice he scored the 15,000 points at the splendid average of 40.84 per innings, including superb brakes of 502, 335, 326 and fifteen others between 200 and 300.

Dennis Hodgkiss, a former international footballer, has been robbed of a case containing numerous medals which he won during his career, the robbery being perpetrated with great audacity at a licensed house which Hodgkiss conducts at Birmingham.

The royal medal, first presented by King William IV, was won at St. Andrews by the Hon. R. Bethell with a score of 76. Robert Maxwell and J. L. Low tied for second place at 78. As usual, at the opening of the meeting, the new captain, Lord Kinross, opened proceedings by playing himself into office. A gun was fired and Lord Kinross drove the first ball in the competition.

CAR MERGER
New Company Will Be Large Concern With Plant to Manufacture Steel Cars

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—N. Curry, of Amherst, N. S., who was here today, stated that the car merger was an accomplished fact, and that the first cash payment would be made on Monday next. Mr. Curry, who is the largest holder of the Rhodes-Curry stock, said that he was taking all his payments in stock, but that some of the others in the old concern were getting both cash and stock.

The new concern will be known as the Canada Car and Foundry company and that it would issue $3,500,000 of bonds, $5,000,000 of preferred stock and $3,500,000 common stock. It is the intention to establish a new plant in the near future for the manufacture of steel passenger cars.

INSURANCE CONTROVERSY

Requests Tendered by Deputation Arouse Opposition in Montreal Circles

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—A large deputation representing Canadian fire insurance companies waited this afternoon upon Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, and Superintendent Fitzgerald, regarding legislation prohibiting the New England Mutual and other unlicensed insurance companies doing business in Canada. The whole matter was up before the banking and commerce committee of the House of Commons at the last session, and the government approved a clause permitting such business to be done, but imposing a tax of fifteen per cent upon all premiums paid.

It had been understood that the bill which passed the house last session was to be introduced at this coming session in the senate, and promptly put through both houses as a government measure. The members of the deputation here today, who are mainly from Montreal and the Maritime Provinces, urged the finance minister to amend the draft bill to meet their wishes. Mr. Fielding declined to make any pledge in this matter, but suggested that they would have an opportunity to present their views before the senate committee after the bill had been introduced.

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—A counterblast was made today to the large delegation of fire insurance men which saw Mr. Fielding at Ottawa, with regard to the striking out of the insurance bill of the clause permitting mutual and other companies to do business in Canada. There was a large meeting of manufacturers and others who are holders of mutual and reciprocal policies at the board of trade rooms, under the presidency of William McMaster, of the Montreal Rolling Mills. A committee was formed, and if necessary will wait upon Mr. Fielding to assure him that the open door clause is acceptable to the large commercial interests of Montreal.

Labor Party in Halifax
HALIFAX, Oct. 21.—Representatives of the labor interests of Halifax at a meeting tonight decided to nominate a candidate for Halifax in the next provincial election. A convention will be called in the next two or three weeks to name a candidate. John Joy, a prominent labor man in Halifax, it is understood, will be the nominee.

Nova Scotia Politics
HALIFAX, Oct. 21.—A. J. McLean, M. P. for Lunenburg, is in the city and will announce in a few days his decision as to entering the provincial government. It is understood that he has been tendered the position of attorney general, and his acceptance of this post will necessitate his resignation as a member of the Ottawa house. Mr. McLean has been one of the best fighters upon the government side, and has already acquired a national reputation. It is rumored that should he retire from federal politics that he will soon become the premier of Nova Scotia, in which event it is not unlikely that Mr. Murray will enter Dominion politics.

Life Imprisonment
WOODSTOCK, N. B., Oct. 21.—Sandy Monacelli, the Italian who has been on trial here for the past three days for the murder of a compatriot, Nicholas Legenie, was convicted of manslaughter today and sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Landry. The judge in sentencing the prisoner declared that his reason for giving him the full penalty was to try to stop the numerous fatal affrays that have occurred between Italians since work on the G. T. P. started in this province. This is the fourth murder trial within a year in this section of New Brunswick, in all of which Italians figured as the murderers. In one case two were hanged and in two others the murderers escaped with manslaughter.

PORTUGAL'S KING TO VISIT ENGLAND

Details of Tour of Manuel Announced—To Go to Madrid Enroute

LISBON, Oct. 21.—King Manuel, accompanied by the Minister for Foreign Affairs, Colonel Barbosa du Bocage, and his suite, will leave Lisbon in the evening of November 7 for his visit to England.

His Majesty will remain for five days in Madrid. Thence he will travel through France incognito, reaching Cherbourg on November 14, and crossing to Portsmouth in the British royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

The Prince of Wales will greet him at Portsmouth in the name of King Edward, and will travel with him by special train to Windsor, where he will arrive on November 14, his twentieth birthday. This will be celebrated the same night by a gala banquet at Windsor Castle.

His stay at Windsor will last eight days, during which he will go to London to attend the luncheon in his honor at the Guildhall. At the end of his visit to Windsor he will proceed to London, and stay for three or four days at Buckingham Palace, where a ball will be given in his honor.

From London he will go to Paris, and reside for eight days incognito at the Hotel Bristol.

CZAR NICHOLAS LEADS SIMPLE LIFE

Remains Secluded at His Castle in the Crimea—His Daily Routine

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 21.—The court censorship prevents publication of news from the Crimea about the Czar and the Imperial family. Newspapers publishing letters from Livadia, which even mention the Czar are heavily fined. A minister of the court alone is the "imperial journalist" but his court bulletin is generally entirely uninforming.

When the Czar left for his beautiful castle in the Crimea he said to one of his ministers that he felt overworked and wished to forget all politics for several weeks. He is now living like a private gentleman in the charming gardens of Livadia, devoting himself entirely to family life and private affairs. The order has been given that His Majesty is to be disturbed only on the most urgent business.

The Czar is a very early riser. He generally takes breakfast, consisting of tea, eggs and ham, at 7 o'clock. The meal is served by an English cook, the Czar and Czarina both having a preference for English food. Immediately after breakfast the Czar smokes a Havana cigar. His Majesty is extremely fond of cigars, quite unlike his father, Alexander III, who only smoked Russian cigarettes, and objected to cigar-smoking among the dignitaries of the court.

After a long stroll in which he is accompanied sometimes by his children, the Czar takes lunch, which consists of several courses. The conversation with the Czarina and Grand Duchesses is generally in English, as His Majesty does not like to be overheard by the servants, who speak French, but not English. After lunch the Czar generally makes an excursion by motor-car, special roads being laid down for his use.

Dinner is served at 6 o'clock, and often a few intimate friends—never more than five or six—are invited. After dinner a bridge or other card party is arranged. Play is always for low stakes. The Czar is an excellent card-player. Sometimes artists are invited, and a concert is offered to the visitors.

This healthy country life is doing the Czar a great deal of good. He now looks fresh and energetic, and it is hoped that the nervous ailment of the Czarina will also be improved.

DISCOUNT RATES

Bank of England Action Takes Bankers in Berlin Completely by Surprise

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—The action of the Bank of England in raising its discount rate today took Berlin completely by surprise. Financial circles discussing the increased rate assign American speculation and demand for money as the chief cause. Nothing can be ascertained tonight regarding the London report of a German demand for gold. This, however, is discredited, and the financial newspapers are apparently not aware of it. The steady rise in the English cheque rate in the past few days has already raised the fear that the gold export point will be reached soon. In that event another advance by the Imperial Bank of Germany is regarded as certain. In the meantime, it is understood that in the opinion of the managers of the Imperial German bank no occasion exists for a further advance now. The recovery movement this week is progressing satisfactorily.

Do You Realise the Danger of a

POISONED FINGER

DEATH OFTEN LURKS IN A CUT.

YOU see this danger illustrated in the case of Mr. W. C. Edwards, a well-known Friendly Society leader, of Peter Street, Toronto. He cut one of his fingers with a piece of glass, and instead of applying Zam-Buk to prevent blood poison and to heal it, he neglected the cut, and blood poison followed. He says:—"The blood-poison from the finger spread up my hand and arm and caused me terrible agony. After two months' treatment the doctor said there was no cure, and amputation would have to take place if I intended to save my arm. I left that doctor and consulted another. After a few weeks' treatment, he also told me that operation would be necessary. He said the bone had become diseased and the finger would have to be opened so that the bone could be scraped. I went away to consider when I would have the operation performed and met a friend who advised me to try Zam-Buk. "That night I bathed the wound and put on some Zam-Buk. I got a little sleep for the first time for many nights. In the morning the wound began to bleed instead of the foul discharging as in the past. This was a healthy sign so I went on with the Zam-Buk. Well, to cut a long story short, in a few days I put away the sling, and in a few weeks the finger was healed completely. To-day that finger is as sound as a bell and I owe it to Zam-Buk. I spent over $20 in doctors fees and when I think how Zam-Buk at such a trifling cost saved me from amputation I am very grateful for the balm I can tell you."

WHAT ZAM-BUK CURES.

Zam-Buk cures cuts, burns, sprains, festering sores, ulcers, scalds, blood-poisoning, eczema, bad leg, diseased ankles, running sores, ringworm, cold-cracks, chapped hands, chilblains, and all other skin diseases and injuries. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, 3 for $1.25 or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse anything offered "just as good."

TROUBLE EXPECTED IN AFGHANISTAN

Indolent Ruler Permits Unruly Subjects to Arm Themselves

BOMBAY, Oct. 21.—

Rumors of trouble in Afghanistan are responsible for the belief in military circles that another frontier war is impending. This view receives no official support, though it is acknowledged that a cloud is not so big as it appears. The trouble is a man's hand, yet pregnant with dire possibilities.

The trouble began soon after the signing of the Anglo-Russian convention in 1907. Although this agreement is a practical guarantee against either British or Russian aggression in Afghanistan, the Amir has always imagined that it contains secret clauses for the partition of his country.

This suspicion led Habibullah Khan to abandon a safeguard on which his more experienced father insisted. The Amir has not merely permitted but encouraged his subjects to arm themselves, and traders in the Persian Gulf have provided the rifles. A few years ago the only men who bore arms were the soldiers of the Amir. Today every Afghan who can buy or steal a rifle is armed. The means of creating trouble, therefore, exist. And the conditions also are there.

Neither the Amir nor his brother, Nasrullah Khan, is very popular with the people. The oppressor may go far in the East if he opens his purse wide. Amir Abdur Rahman was a stern ruler but a generous giver, and his subjects forgave him much. But Habibullah the Amir and Nasrullah Khan take all that is offered and give nothing in return. Hence their unpopularity with the Afghans. The Amir is not—as some people suppose—a weak man. He is, however, an indolent ruler and delegates his duties to others.

The Supplanter

Nasrullah Khan has taken full advantage of this characteristic of his brother and has added to a reputation for energy a reputation for sanctity. He affects both the society and the dress of the mollahs, or koslem priests, and his religious fanaticism is not less obvious than his hate of the British, who rule across the border in India.

In the opinion of men whose knowledge and judgment entitle them to prophecy one of two things must happen in time. Either there will be civil war in Afghanistan or there will be war on the Indian frontier. Now that the people are armed for the first time since the reign of Abdur Rahman they are not likely to submit tamely to oppression. The alternative commands itself not only to fanatics but even to intelligent Afghans. They are satisfied that an invasion of India would be followed immediately by a rising in India. Victorious the Afghans would strengthen the Mohammedan faith, defeated, they would be relieved of rulers for whom they have neither respect nor affection. That is the attitude of the intelligent Afghan, and the risk it holds is obvious.

CANADIAN FARMS FOR ENGLISH SPINSTERS

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Miss Binnie Clark, who is agitating for an extension of free land grants to spinsters, and who has worked a 339-acre farm for three years, told the National Union of Women Workers at Portsmouth that at the end of the fourth season in Canada she had made 10 per cent. profit. She spoke of other women who have made successful investments in Canadian land and subsequently advocated domestic service in Canadian households as good employment for English women. She described, amid laughter, a Canadian dinner party, where the English "help" attired in evening gown, waited at table, assisted by an English youth, the son of a clergyman, also in orthodox evening dress.

A Pertinent Question

For curiosity's sake, you who read this, ask a neighbor or anyone with whom you may have casual conversation today, who has a fair idea of Real Estate values in Victoria:—"What is a Residential Lot, just a mile distant from the City Hall, worth?" We think you will find the answer will be, nine times out of ten, to the following effect:—"Anywhere from $500 to $1000, or more. It depends on the location." And the answer would be right. Well, what of that? Just this—and a word to the wise is sufficient,—

Canadians Have Hard Times.

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—E. S. Kirkpatrick, Canadian trade commissioner at Havana, reports to the department of trade and commerce that a number of Canadians who have been induced to settle at a colony known as Ocean Beach, Cuba, are having a hard experience. The sale of land which is being advertised in Canada, he says, is resulting in profits to the company which owns it only. The trouble arises from the fact that the two municipalities—Mantun and Guave—both claim the right to collect taxes from the newcomers. One municipality advised them not to pay, while the other is arresting and imprisoning them if they refuse to do so. One of the Canadians writing to a Havana newspaper says that the colony is being ground like a pebble between two stones. Several Canadians have been arrested and fined.

MILAN IN GRIP OF GREEDY LANDLORDS

People Hold Mass Meetings to Protest Against Their Oppression

MILAN, Oct. 21.—Mass meetings, accompanied by a general suspension of business in the city, have been held here to protest against the oppressive increase in rents which has now reached a critical stage in every department. During the past seven years Milan has added 90,000 to its population, which totals over 600,000. Meantime local taxation has augmented by leaps and bounds, and in order to carry through grand city improvements, which have largely helped to place this northern metropolis far ahead of all other Italian cities. The smaller tradespeople are sorely pinched, and 20,000 workingclass citizens are at their wits' ends to procure dwellings, for there has been no adequate increase in householding.

The people believe that this state of things is due to the extortionate landlord class, which happens to have 50 per cent of the representation on the local town council, and is charged with retarding the municipal working people's dwellings scheme. Public indignation threatens a general strike unless the authorities find a speedy remedy in the temporary abolition of divers taxes. Furniture removers and porters of all sorts have already gone on strike, and a powerful league has been formed to resist by physical force any attempts at eviction.

The prefect has compelled proprietors to desist from turning families into the street lest scenes of bloodshed should ensue. Local demagogues insist on throwing open the Royal Palace and Villa, the ancient castle, and 125 city churches for the use of the houseless citizens, while other agitators have framed a list of all the vacant rooms at the archbishop's palace and the ninety-six convents of Milan.

Landlords and builders on their part demand to be freed from all taxation on building material for the space of three years, and the poorer classes are clamoring for the abolition of the heavy municipal taxes on foodstuffs.

B. C. WILL AID

Premier McBride's Conditional Promise to Selkirk Centennial Exposition at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21.—At a meeting of the executive of the Selkirk Centennial today a telegram was read from Victoria with the reply of Premier McBride to the delegation which presented the claims of the Selkirk Centennial. The following is a copy of a letter just received from the premier:

"Hugh Sutherland, Winnipeg, Man. —Dear Sir: Re Canada's proposed International Exposition and Selkirk Centennial, 1912. After meeting the first delegation in April last, and since hearing the further presentation by the recent delegation of the advantages to be derived from a Canadian International exhibition, I have carefully considered the whole question, and have concluded that the project is one which should be heartily endorsed and supported by every province in the Dominion, and if sufficient aid and encouragement is given the committee having the matter in charge by the Dominion and other provinces to secure an exhibition worthy of Canada. British Columbia will not lag behind, but will assemble and house an exhibit which will adequately represent its varied and almost unlimited natural resources. Canada at present receives a larger share of public attention, particularly from agricultural classes, than ever before in her history. An exposition, therefore, such as proposed, carried to a successful termination, would not only promote the rapid settlement of the agricultural lands in the prairie provinces, but would stimulate settlement and the investment of capital in the provinces possessing varied natural resources awaiting development by capital, which at present to a large extent is finding its way to other portions of the Empire, or to foreign countries. Yours truly, (signed) Richard McBride."

HARDSHIPS OF RUSSIAN EXILES

Details Told by Princess Kropotkin Regarding Severities Upon Prisoners

LONDON, Oct. 20.—In opening an exhibition of Russian industries, at the Letchworth garden city, on behalf of the relief fund for Russian exiles in Siberia, Princess Kropotkin said the Russian government had always resorted to exile for the discontented element of the population, but never had the persecution been so great as since the constitution was proclaimed. The exiles were now estimated to number 80,000, but there were probably more. Formerly they used to live in towns, but now the administration found that too good for them, and they were all sent out to small villages, where there were only 15 or 20 houses for 100 to 180 exiles. It was impossible for them sometimes even to find a corner of a room in which to sleep, and they begged to be allowed to enter the prisons. The conditions of life on the material side were terribly sad, and many were verging on starvation.

The princess had just received a letter from a place where 360 men and eight women were exiled, and the village only had 36 houses. In many of the houses the exiles paid 1.50 for a sleeping corner, and they had to go about half-dressed in the bitter cold of winter. It was a terrible sight to see them walking along the streets. The English relief fund had amounted to $20,000 in three years, and this, with other foreign contributions, was now practically all the assistance the exiles received. The distress was more acute now owing to the fact that whereas formerly the exiles were from the intellectual classes, who left wealthy people behind them, they were now drawn from the poor and destitute working and peasant classes.

Winnipeg's Bank Clearings

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21.—Today's clearing returns for the week, $24,385,858, not only outdistances any previous record of the city, but place Winnipeg amongst the heavy cities of the continent. Just a year ago the clearings for the week were $16,315,776, or $8,060,082 less than for the week which ends today. The gain per cent is 49.3. As compared with the return for the corresponding week of the phenomenal year of 1907, the gain is 60.9 per cent. Today's figures are but a continuation of the steadily increasing figures. It is not an occasional week that shows so great a gain, but it is now the rule.

Building Boom in Calgary.

CALGARY, Oct. 21.—The construction of new business blocks and private dwellings continues unabated. Building trades have this season found an abundance of work. A building permit just issued calls for the completion of a new 40,000 three story business block. Contractors are being urged to use all speed to complete the buildings at present under construction as there is a dearth of office suites in Calgary. British Columbia has just succeeded in pulling off a very successful coup, securing two carloads of laborers from Calgary, despite the fact that apparently there was sufficient work here.

COSTLY FIRE

Dayton, Ohio, Visited By Disastrous Blaze That Swept Manufacturing Section—$750,000 Damage

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Fire in the manufacturing centre of this city last night got beyond the control of the firemen and caused damage estimated at $300,000. The fire originated in the plant of the Dayton Computing Scale Co. The local fire department, finding the plant doomed, turned their energies to saving the surrounding buildings, but the blaze fanned by a high wind, leaped across streets and alleys, spreading to the plants of the Cooper Medicine Co. and the Pasteur Chamberlain Filter Company.

The fire which destroyed the Computing Scale Works and other buildings started at midnight, and the department is still at work, but the fire is under control. The plant is a total loss. The Bimms storage adjoining was also destroyed, as well as one of the buildings of the Big Four freight station. The Pasteur-Chamberlain Filter Company, and the Klee Bottling Works were practically destroyed. The total loss is now estimated at $750,000, mostly covered by insurance.

Education in Canada

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—Dr. John Struthers, secretary of the Scottish education department, with headquarters in London, who has been visiting the different Canadian centers, said tonight prior to his departure for home that he was most impressed with the splendid liberality of the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan towards their schools and with the Macdonald college at St. Ann's, which he pronounced the wonder of the generation. He says, however, that the status of the western teacher is not high enough, as he remarked that a young girl out of the course would command the splendid salary of six hundred dollars per annum. In fact he thought that when the trained teachers of Scotland hear of these prices there will be a general movement towards the plains of western Canada.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR LINE

Capt. Baird Tells of Additions to Be Made to the Trans-Pacific Service

SAYS ANDREW

WEIR IS COMING

Suveric Now Due Was Delayed by Long Voyage Up the Yangtze River

Captain David Baird, superintendent for the Weir Steamship company, is in the city on business in connection with the loading of the company's sailing ship Ellsland, at Sidney. He stated that Andrew Weir, head of the big steamship company, is on his way to Victoria by way of the Straits Settlements, Manila, and Hongkong, after a visit to Australia, and would probably arrive here in December, when it was probable announcements would be made regarding improvements to the trans-Pacific steamship service of the Weir line. The steamer Orteric and Lusitania are being completed on the Clyde at the Russell yards for this service, both vessels being of 11,000 tons register, and fitted with modern passenger accommodation for 200 saloon passengers, and equipped with wireless telegraphic apparatus. These vessels are to be placed in the trans-Pacific trade for the Weir line. It had been intended to use the steamer Yorick in this service, but she was wrecked near Concepcion, on the Chilean coast, when on the way around to the North Pacific.

On World Tour.

Andrew Weir is on a world tour, making arrangements for the improvement of the steamship services in which he is interested. While in Australia he was in conference with the Howard Smith Steamship company, associated with whom he maintains the Australian mail line between British Columbia, Puget Sound, San Francisco, and Australia. The Bank Line, Limited, of which Andrew Weir is at the head, possess a fleet of over thirty steamers, with names ending with "eric," and a big fleet of sailing ships is also owned by the Weir concern. The sailing ship fleet includes the Forthbank, Beechbank, Cedarbank, Hawthornbank, Olivebank, Cowlebank, Hestonbank, Thornlebank, Gantock Rock, Isle of Arran, Menckock, River Falloch, Sardhana, Tronagale, and Ellsland.

Captain Baird said the steamer Suveric, 14 days behind her schedule, had been delayed because of a trip about six hundred miles up the Yangtze river, having gone to Fookow, near the head of navigation for large steamers, to discharge lumber at the Chinese port. The Suveric will not be here until about November 4. She was scheduled to sail from the Japanese port on October 6 but did not get away until Tuesday. She has about 2,400 tons of cargo, which includes 110 bales of silk, and she is bringing four first-class passengers and twenty Chinese in the steerage.

The Oceano is being overhauled at Hongkong, and is about ready to sail for this side. She will have as a passenger Captain McBride, well known here.

SANTA CLARA SOLD BY ALASKA COMPANY

Goes to Chas. P. Doe, Who Is Engaged in Rate War With Pacific Coast Steamship Company

The steamer Santa Clara has been sold by the Alaska Steamship Company to Charles P. Doe, of the Northern Steamship Company, now implicated in the rate war in California with the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. The Santa Clara was built in 1900, at Everett, by C. H. White. When launched, the vessel was christened the John D. Kimball, and under that name ran from the Sound to Nome for a couple of seasons. Then Robert Dollar, of San Francisco, purchased the boat, renaming her the James Dollar, and she was chartered by the late Capt. Elmer E. Caine, who ran her to Nome one season and then had her on the Seattle-San Francisco run for two years, running in connection with the Centennial.

Capt. Caine then purchased the vessel and turned it over to the Alaska-Pacific Navigation Company, changing the name to the Santa Clara. Along with the Santa Clara, the company, the Excelsior, the Alaska-Pacific Navigation Company sold the Santa Clara to the Northwestern Steamship Company. The latter company was amalgamated with the Alaska Steamship Company nearly two years ago.

The Santa Clara is a wooden steamship, with modern equipments, including the wireless telegraph, and is regarded as a good sailor. She has comfortable passenger accommodations, and is a good cargo carrier. She is 223 feet long, has 38 feet beam, and a depth of 24.1 feet. Her indicated horsepower is 900, and she carries a crew of thirty-seven.

The place of the Santa Clara on the Seattle-Prince William Sound run will be filled for one trip by the Farallon, after which the Victoria, now on route to Nome, will fill in with the steamships Yucatan and Olympia, maintaining the regular schedule for the winter.

In the spring the Alaska Steamship Company expects to have the two new vessels in commission. According to the plans now drawn, they will be sixteen-knot ships, 350 feet long and 48 feet in beam, with double bottoms and twin screws. There will be two passenger decks, with a social hall running the extent of the house. All staterooms will be inside rooms, and contain two berths only. There will be accommodation for 240 first-class passengers and 280 second class, and

BIG TURBINES IN CANADA TRADE

Cairo and Heliopolis to Commence Service to Halifax After Next March

It is reported that Harland & Wolff, of Belfast, who recently announced their intention of establishing two shipbuilding yards in Canada, have been considering a site in Victoria in common with St. John, Halifax, and Vancouver.

Harland & Wolff's yards at Belfast, where the largest liners are being built are the world's largest shipyards employing from 10,000 to 17,000 men. At the present time they have eleven new steamers under construction, and eighteen or twenty undergoing repairs. The representative of the company who was making investigations at Point Levis and St. John has returned to Belfast to make his report, and it is stated that another representative will be sent to the Pacific coast.

No definite proposals have been made to the government relative to the proposed plants, and probably some weeks will elapse before any thing definite is decided upon. Meanwhile the representatives of the Harland & Wolff, of Belfast, and John Brown & Company, engineers, builders of Clydebank, and Vickers Sons & Maxims, three of the best known firms in the world, will look over Canada with a view to establishing Canadian branches.

Brodrick Castle Is Considered a Total Loss by Lloyds and Struck From Register

A Victoria sailing ship has been posted as missing at Lloyds. The Brodrick Castle, one of the fleet of sailing vessels registered at this port, has been wiped off the lists of Lloyd's register, and never will the bell of the Lutine be rung to announce her arrival. The Brodrick Castle, which is well known to local shipping men, was an iron ship and sailed from Portland, Ore., on December 4, 1908, bound for the United Kingdom and the Continent with a cargo of wheat, etc. She passed Astoria two days later, but nothing whatever has since been heard of her, and for some time the vessel has been regarded as hopelessly overdue. In the ordinary course the Brodrick Castle should have arrived in the English Channel in April last, but failing to do so she was put on the overdue list in June, and the rate paid on her went up to 92 per cent., when she was generally looked upon as a total loss, and about the middle of August was withdrawn from the list. The Brodrick Castle was of 1820 tons gross register, built at Glasgow in 1875 by Messrs. T. Wingate & Co., and owned by the Ship Brodrick Castle Company, Limited, of Victoria, B. C., the head offices of which are at R. P. Rithet and Co., Ltd., of San Francisco, who held the bulk of the stock in the lost ship. Two of the crew of the Brodrick Castle held master's certificates.

The Clan Macpherson, another British ship known on the Sound, is overdue from Newcastle, N. S. W., where she left June 24 for Valparaiso. She is quoted at 92 per cent. for re-insurance.

MONTEAGLE SAILS FOR ORIENT TONIGHT

C. P. R. Steamer Will Have Big Cargo Outward—Missionaries Among Passengers

The steamer Montegale, of the C. P. R., will sail from the outer wharf tonight for the Orient with a big cargo. Among the passengers booked to sail by the C. P. R. ship are Rev. and Mrs. E. Taylor, Methodist missionaries bound to the Chengtu missions conducted by the Methodist in western China. The Princess Ena took a thousand tons of flour from Seattle and Tacoma for the Montegale, and many big shipments were brought from eastern ports.

The steamer Suveric, of the Weir line, which were built by the Fairfield Company in 1907 for the Egyptian Mail Company's service between Marseilles and Alexandria, will sail after March between Hamburg, Rotterdam, and an English Channel port, and Halifax, Nova Scotia, carrying emigrants, and it is further reported that the extensive alterations necessary will be carried out by the original builders of the ships. The top deck will be removed, and the necessary additional bunker capacity to fit them for Atlantic work will also be provided, while the passenger accommodation will undergo extensive alterations.

BEDFORD AT THE GOLDEN GATE

Commander of Cruiser Famed for Heroism When Lieutenant of the Algerine

The British cruiser Bedford, Captain Fitzherbert, last of the warships to reach the Golden Gate for the Portola celebration, was welcomed by a number of prominent citizens with Mayor Taylor, including R. P. Rithet, of this city. Yesterday morning a great parade was held, in which landing parties from H. M. S. Bedford, Algerine and Shearwater, with the German cruiser Arcona, Italian cruiser Calabria, Japanese cruiser Idzumo and Dutch cruiser Noord-Brabant, and the United States troops and bluejackets from the warships in port, took part.

The San Francisco newspapers received yesterday print illustrations of the Bedford, and photographs of the commanders of the British vessels, Capt. Fitzherbert of the Bedford, Commander Crawford of the Shearwater, and Capt. Edwards of the Algerine.

When the Bedford came to the Golden Gate her commander saw first the sloop of war Algerine, for it was on board that vessel when serving as a lieutenant that he won much fame.

"The commanding officer of the Bedford, in his career in the navy of England, has had an interesting and highly creditable experience. He did not say so himself yesterday, but it is of record that Captain Fitzherbert, when a lieutenant in the sloop-of-war Algerine, years ago, made a determined and heroic capture of twenty-seven slaves who were being carried from the coast of Africa. His boats were capsized, but he succeeded in righting them, and with only one rifle and four revolvers he and his small company saved the slaves and routed the crew of a larger vessel that had begun a fierce resistance.

"The Bedford is a first-class armored cruiser, built at Fairfield and finished in 1903. It is 448 feet in length, 66 feet in breadth, and has a draft of 12 feet, and although credited with a speed of 23 knots in naval records, has made 24.3 knots an hour. The Bedford displaces 9800 tons. The armament consists of fourteen 6-inch, nine 12-pounder, three 3-pounder guns and two submerged torpedo tubes. She is the fourth of her name in the British navy, the preceding three being now obsolete or broken up.

"The arrangements for the enlisted men of the foreign warships have never been surpassed in any city in the world where the navies have gathered as guests. The marine ashore in San Francisco is in truth a welcome guest, and nothing that could be devised for his comfort and enjoyment has been left undone."

NEW BIOGRAPH OF PRINCE BISMARCK

Tells of Youthful Loves of the Iron Chancellor—His English Flame

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—A new Bismarck biography, written by Professor Erich Marck, contains interesting revelations regarding the Iron Chancellor's youthful loves. It was "a charming English girl," described by Professor Marck as a Miss Russell, who belonged to the "highest English aristocracy," to whom the young statesman first paid ardent court and to whom he was at one time engaged. Bismarck was twenty-one years old, and had just mounted the first rung of the Prussian bureaucratic ladder as a "referendar" at Aix-la-Chapelle.

He met Miss Russell at Wiesbaden in 1836 in the company of her uncle and aunt, "the Duke and Duchess of C." The young people's acquaintance was renewed in 1837, and on that occasion Bismarck made no secret of his tender fondness for "the British blonde of unusual beauty."

Bismarck is said by his biographer to have been so devoted to Miss Russell that he neglected pressing official duties to follow her to Switzerland, and a betrothal "appears actually to have taken place." Bismarck is said to have exceeded his leave from official duties by two months. Then, remembering that he was a Prussian Civil Servant, he wrote from Berne to his superiors begging humbly for forgiveness.

Shortly afterwards the engagement to the "irresistible English miss" was broken off. "When, where or why," writes Marck, "nobody seems ever to have heard." But Bismarck took it much to heart, and his biographer tells of letters and incidents to prove that for a long time he was melancholy and depressed.

PROTEST AGAINST CONGO ATROCITIES

Determined Effort to Check
Outrages by Belgians Upon Helpless Blacks

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Daily Express says:

For years the horrors of the Congo, "the greatest crime in history," have from time to time been exposed in part to the civilized world.

Never has there been an effective effort to place a check on the atrocities of the Belgian government of the Congo. Year after year hundreds of inoffensive natives have been tortured and maimed to gratify the lust for gain of the white man.

At last there is to be a determined plan to do something. The government has intervened. It has remained for Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and Mr. E. D. Morel to place themselves at the head of a movement which will hold mass meetings throughout the British Kingdom for the purpose of making the public realize the true state of affairs in the Congo, and arouse public opinion so that the government will be forced to take decisive action.

Ten million people—one-third of the population of the Congo Free State—disappeared during King Leopold's regime.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's new book, "The Crime of the Congo," which has just been published, is the most powerful indictment yet launched against the Belgian rules of this blood-stained colony.

After reviewing the early history of the Congo Free State, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle quotes the testimony of many unimpeachable witnesses regarding the brutalities of the "rubber system," and the cold-blooded mutilation and massacre of natives during the past fifteen years.

"We have all failed at times," writes Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, in reviewing the results of King Leopold's commission. "But never has there been failure so hopeless, so shocking, bearing such consequences to the world, such degradation to the good name of Christianity and civilization as the failure of the Belgians in the Congo." The atrocities perpetrated by King Leopold's emissaries in the Congo are in some instances almost beyond belief. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle quotes extracts from the official report of a British Consul, which describes the mutilation of children by the soldiers who were engaged in the collection of "red rubber."

Population Reduced a Third

Under the government of the Belgian authorities the population of the Congo Free State has been reduced by one-third in consequence of repeated massacres. Many flourishing towns have been swept away. One important trading centre, Bolobo, which had 40,000 inhabitants when Stanley visited it, now has less than 7,000 people.

"There are many ways in which we can bring the Congo State to her knees," says Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, "the superiority of exclusively metal construction. He does not seem to have been shaken in his attitude by the discovery that the metal propellers of the Republic were the main cause of the French airship's disaster.

The rumor continues to circulate with persistency that the German war office has bought its last Zeppelin airship, and that the great plant established at Friedrichshafen by national subscription will require to occupy itself practically with airships for private passenger service.

Hamburg Station.
Herr Colsmann, the business manager of the Count Zeppelin company, is at present in Hamburg negotiating for an aerial station in that city. He wants, in the first place, a site, and then financial support. An inducement he paints an attractive picture.

It is proposed to keep at Hamburg a Zeppelin airship, larger than those already in existence, which, through the employment of lighter material, will be able to make a cruise of five or six hours' duration with from thirty to forty passengers. Trips would at first be made to watering places on the west coast of Germany, but could, he said, be extended to Copenhagen, and under favorable meteorological conditions and with a smaller number of passengers, even to England. The project will form part of the business of the German Aeronautics company.

The Plan Proposed.
In an interview, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle said:
"We are holding a series of great public meetings in all parts of the kingdom, in order to bring home the facts of the present reign of terror in the Congo and the atrocious misgovernment of the country.

"Mr. E. D. Morel and I are speaking at these meetings, and the archbishop or the bishop of each district will take the chair.

"The first Congo reform meeting will be held at Newcastle on November 8, and the first mass meeting in London will be held on November 19. All religious denominations will be united in this movement, and Church of England, Nonconformist and Roman Catholic clergymen will join hands in a political cause in the interest of humanity.

"There will be two meetings in Manchester, while the campaign will be continued at Liverpool, Edinburgh, and Hull.

"Once the people of this country know the facts, which are not for the most part in dispute, and have heard the statements of eye-witnesses, and seen the photographs of mutilated men, women, and children, I am sure they will rise with us and ask that an end may be put to the crimes of the Congo. I have a photograph here. It appears on the cover of my pamphlet. It is the photograph of a poor black child with mutilated right hand and left leg. Underneath is written, 'I was guaranteed by you.'

"He stands for the murdered and maimed men, women, and children of the Congo. The question is now: Are cold-blooded, infamous men to continue to make capital out of the suffering and misery of the unprotected? Many newspapers on the continent are bribable, and hardly any paper in Belgium refers to the facts of the inner working of the Congo Free State. The Belgians are for the most part in blissful ignorance of the horrors hidden underneath."

BRUTAL TRIPLE MURDER FOR MONEY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 21.—Alonso Vanroyer, his wife, and a sister-in-law, Miss Rosa McMahon, were slain yesterday, and the Vanroyer home was looted. The women were found dead in the kitchen of their home. The police suspected the husband of the crime and began a search for him. His body was found 300 yards from the house covered with leaves. He had been shot through the head. Mrs. Vanroyer was shot three times and her sister six times. Five hundred dollars in cash and a diamond ring that had been in the Vanroyer home are missing. Vanroyer is said to have been seen here with a stranger. The police believe that the man learned that Vanroyer had money at home, was accompanying him to his house, and committed the murders.

BANK OF ENGLAND RAISES RATE AGAIN

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The Bank of England today raised its minimum rate of discount another full point to 5 per cent. the highest it has stood since the American flurry in 1907.

This is the third consecutive week that the governors of the bank have considered it necessary "to strengthen the barriers against a further leakage of gold reserves." The international monetary position shows no material improvement during the past week and the bank's reserve, which is now nearing the $110,000,000 mark, is threatened with a further depletion by the South American and Egyptian requirements, which are estimated at $7,500,000. Foreign exchanges have been steadily against London, particularly Berlin, where gold is badly needed, and where the next arrival of the metal would probably have gone but for the imposition of the 5 per cent. rate. It is known that requirements from other centres would soon reduce the reserve to below a hundred million unless the new rate attracts gold.

ANOTHER AERIAL VESSEL LAID DOWN

Zeppelin Shipbuilding Company
Has Ambitious
Plans

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—Although aeroplanes and aeroplaning have perceptibly dampened German enthusiasm for airships, the Zeppelin Shipbuilding company has already "laid down" Zeppelin IV., which will be much larger than any of its predecessors. With 29,000 cubic metres of gas capacity, it will be 7,000 cubic metres larger than Zeppelin II. and III. In other respects the new vessel will be practically of the same dimensions as its forerunners, although there is talk of installing a third motor, which would bring the total horse-power to over 300.

Rumors that Count Zeppelin would abandon a considerable of his all-aluminum construction and substitute wood are described as groundless. The count is still an indefatigable believer in the superiority of exclusively metal construction. He does not seem to have been shaken in his attitude by the discovery that the metal propellers of the Republic were the main cause of the French airship's disaster.

The rumor continues to circulate with persistency that the German war office has bought its last Zeppelin airship, and that the great plant established at Friedrichshafen by national subscription will require to occupy itself practically with airships for private passenger service.
